British Troops Set Up Kuwait Defense

Guns Poised To Meet Any Iraq Threat

Landing Operation Completed; Kuwait Orders Censorship

KUWAIT (AP)—British tanks, commandos and paratroops dug into a solid defensive ring in the burning Kuwait desert Sunday night their guns poised to meet any threat from Iraq.

By nightfall the landing operation was completed and the British forces were ready to protect this 5,000-square-mile sheikdom and its fabulous oil wealth from Iraq's threat of annexation.

Reinforcements for the 750 fighting men landed Saturday included the tough 7th Parachute Battery of Royal Horse Artillery. They were brought in from England by Britannia transport planes and helped swell the British vanguard toward brigade level.

A brigade headquarters was established just north of Kuwait city, the seat of Sheikh Sir Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah's oil-financed government.

The Kuwait government instituted censorship on all international cables and phone calls including news dispatches.

Horsford In Command

Brig. Gen. Derek G. Horsford took command of the British operations.

Trucks and helicopters ferried 100 commandos from Kuwait's Farwaniya Airport to the defensive positions northwest of town. They bestrided a logical route for invasion from Iraq, whose Premier Abdel Karim Kassem claims Kuwait as a province of Iraq.

HMS Moon, a 1,370-ton former frigate redesigned as a landing headquarters ship, joined the British flotilla led by the commando carrier Bulwark in Kuwait Bay.

A tank landing craft put into the harbor with trucks, Jeeps, antitank guns and other war material.

The reinforcing troop units included the 2nd Battalion of the Coldstream Guards, as famed for their royal ceremonial parades as for battle honors, and a squadron of the 11th Hussars, whose predecessors made the charge of the light brigade at Balaklava during the Crimean War.

The Hussars rolled out in armored cars from Aden, a British colony at the southern tip of the Arabian Peninsula. The Coldstream Guards flew in from Bahrain, a British protectorate 270 miles from the Persian Gulf.

Airlift From Kenya
Units of the 24th Infantry Brigade, including a headquarters staff, were ferried here by planes from Kenya colony, East Africa.

(A dispatch from Nairobi, Kenya's capital, said 500 men of the 1st Battalion Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers were reported to have left Nairobi for Kuwait in Royal Air Force transports Sunday night. British army headquarters maintained secrecy about the troop movements.)

About 60 men of a detachment called No. 45 Commando arrived to join the commando battalion set ashore by the Bulwark Saturday.

Sheik Abdullah asked for Britain's help under the terms of an agreement last month by which Kuwait took over the conduct of its own foreign affairs and dropped its 62-year role as a British protectorate.

Although this sandy, Connecticut-sized state has been ruled by the dynasty of Sheikh Abdullah since 1756, Kassem calls it historically a part of Iraq. British and American interests pioneered the development of its oil after World War II.

Monolith Unearthed

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP)—An ancient Aztec monolith has been uncovered by workmen excavating for a new bank on the outskirts of Puebla. Officials said the monolith was similar to several found recently in the Yucatan Peninsula.

Gun Blast Kills Famed Novelist Hemingway, 62

Shot Self Accidentally, Wife Says

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Ernest Hemingway, 62, the bearded American novelist who gained fame writing of death and violence, accidentally killed himself Sunday while cleaning a gun, his wife said.

Mary Hemingway issued this brief statement: "Mr. Hemingway accidentally killed himself while cleaning a gun this morning at 7:30 a. m. No time has been set for the funeral services, which will be private."

Later it was announced the funeral will be Friday, with burial in nearby Ketchum.

Coroner Ray McGoldrick of Blaine County said Hemingway was shot in the head at his canyon home in Ketchum, near here.

Authorities said a shotgun blast killed the author.

The coroner said that upon the advice of the county prosecutor, V. K. Jeppesen, it had been decided no inquest would be necessary.

Kennedy Mourns Author's Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—President Kennedy Sunday night mourned the death of Ernest Hemingway as one of America's greatest authors and "one of the great citizens of the world."

Spending the Fourth of July weekend here with his family, the President issued a special statement after hearing of Hemingway's death in Idaho.

Nixon Urges No Berlin Letup

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Sunday called on the United States to remain firm on its position in Berlin.

The former number two man in the U.S. government said it is "essential that President Kennedy shoot down any trial balloons, whether from legislative leaders or from allies abroad, indicating that our position on Berlin will be compromised or softened."

"The present situation is that we are legally in Berlin and, if Mr. Khrushchev makes a move, it will be he who will be making that move. The moment we indicate that we are going to weaken our position, it only means that he is going to make his demands even more difficult than they were, and that means a compromise (which) will be disastrous for us and for the whole free world," Nixon added.

Nixon made his remarks on Berlin in a local radio interview. Nixon suggested further that U.S. put Khrushchev "on notice that we will not be pushed around in Berlin as we were in Laos."

He also deplored any suggestion that the United States try to get along with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Crisis In Berlin

U.S. Army Order Banning Shorts Irks Housewives

BERLIN (AP)—There's a crisis in Berlin. The U.S. Army has banned bikinis and shorts in the midst of a heat wave.

The temperature hit 92 degrees Sunday. And housewives' temperatures rose too, although some say they have no use for bikinis. It's the ban on shorts, even for sunbathing, that hurts.

"The wearing of bikini bathing suits, shorts (excluding Bermuda shorts), and abbreviated skirts is not considered in good taste and will not be worn in housing areas or shopping center facilities," said the Berlin command order, issued for the holiday weekend.

Officers and men and civilian employees, the order added, will be responsible for seeing that wives, daughters and even Germany, "There is no indication of foul play," said McGoldrick. "His wife thought it was accidental and there was no one with Mr. Hemingway at the time."

Guards were posted at the Hemingway home.

The barrel-chested writer was released from the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., just last Monday. He had been under treatment for hypertension, high blood pressure. He and his wife came to their Idaho home by auto.

The noted writer originally entered the Mayo Clinic Nov. 30, 1960, and left there for his Idaho home last Jan. 23. But he returned to the clinic April 25. On May 31 a spokesman for the Mayos described his condition as "excellent" and said this could be interpreted as meaning there was a general improvement in the writer's health.

The rugged Hemingway, a lover of the outdoors and sports, would have been 63 on July 21.

It was reported that he had decided to do some hunting and was cleaning guns in preparation for it.

There were reports in this area that Hemingway had been in (Continued on Page 4)

Hoffa Charges Union Target Of "Vendetta"

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa Sunday accused the Kennedy administration of waging a "vendetta" against his union and the labor movement.

He charged that Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg were leading the anti-union campaign and had sent agents here to disrupt the Teamsters' convention.

Hoffa said Labor Department aides were interfering with his reelection by calling in delegates and telling them to tone down their expressions of support for him at the week-long session which opens Monday.

He said this implied that FBI investigators would follow up by questioning Teamsters who openly backed his candidacy.

The attorney general has violated his constitutional duties by discriminatory enforcement of the law against the nation's largest union, Hoffa added.

"Labor is in more danger today than it ever has been in history," Hoffa told a news conference. "The so-called reactionary forces are gaining, liberals are running and intellectuals are becoming bankrupt on any fight on civil rights."

Because of the threats, Hoffa said, he would ask the convention to strengthen the 1.7 million-member union by raising minimum dues from $3 to $5 per month and increasing every member's dues by at least $1 per month.

Union leaders also want to earmark $1 per month instead of the present 40 cents to national headquarters to increase strike benefits, start a pension plan for local union officials, and hire more organizers.

man maids toe the line. And the order applies to sunbathing, too. Telephone talks with American housewives in Berlin gave a 2-1 vote for shorts, but not much sentiment for bikinis. Some women had not heard of the order.

"My goodness," said Juliet Henderson of Poplar Bluffs, Mo. "First they tell us how much money to save, now they tell us what to wear. I wouldn't wear a bikini myself, but shorts are all right. It's pretty hot weather."

Another, who asked not to be identified, demanded: "What does the Army think is the 'proper attire' for sunbathing, anyhow?" And now count one vote for the Army.

Belma King, who would only say she came from Oregon, thought it was a good order.

Doesn't Plan Using Force, Iraq Tells UN

Britain Defends Sending Military Units To Sheikdom

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain told the U.N. Security Council Sunday its troops in Kuwait will go into action in the event Iraqi troops cross the border of the oil-rich desert sheikdom.

But Iraq denied any intention of employing force to bulwark its claims to Kuwait, and called on the council to demand the "unconditional and immediate withdrawal" of British forces pouring into Kuwait by air and sea.

These were the highlights of an extraordinary Sunday session of the 11-nation council, called at the request of Kuwait, now seeking admission to the United Nations as a newly independent nation.

After listening to speeches by Britain, Iraq and the United Arab Republic the council was adjourned until Wednesday, subject to recall earlier only if there is "a new emergency" in the latest Middle East crisis.

Soviet Position Undisclosed

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet delegate on the council, gave no clue as to whether Moscow will support Iraq's contention that Kuwait is part of Iraq. Asked before the meeting about Moscow's position, he told a reporter, "It is too early to say."

In the meeting he said British support of Kuwait's case cast doubt on the facts as reported from the area, but he did not object to the council's taking up the issue. In Moscow, the official Communist party newspaper Pravda called the dispatch of troops an aggressive action intended to inflame the situation.

Sir Patrick Dean, the British delegate, defended the dispatch of forces to Kuwait at the request of the ruler, Sheikh Sir Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah.

Iraqi Forces At Border

He said reports that Iraqi forces had been moved southward from Baghdad to the Kuwait border "not only increased the already existing Iraqi potential to attack, but indicated its possible imminence."

Dean declared that the troops would be withdrawn as soon as the sheik "considers the threat to the independence of his country is over."

Adnan M. Pachachi, the Iraqi delegate, charged that the British military action constitutes an armed threat to the independence and security of Iraq.

He said that Kuwait had no right to bring its complaint to the council since it is not and has never been an independent state, but remains "an integral part of the Iraqi Republic."

$392,000 Gem Missing In Mail

LONDON (AP)—A 78.5-carat diamond worth more than $392,000 was reported missing Sunday in the mail between London and Zurich.

Post office investigators began a hunt to find out how far the gem got after leaving the dispatch office in King Edward Building, London.

The diamond, one of the world's largest unmounted gems, was once owned by the Archduke Joseph, great-grandson of Austria's Emperor Franz Joseph.

Its present owner is millionaire Henri Lyon of Zurich, who recently put it up for sale at Sotheby auction rooms in London.

When the sale came up 10 days ago a bid of 140,000 pounds—$392,000—was offered. The bid was rejected and the gem withdrawn from sale.

Red Leaders Meet In Outer Mongolia

MOSCOW (UPI)—Representatives of the world's ruling Communist parties convene in a "little summit" conference this week in Ulan Bator, capital of Outer Mongolia.

The nominal occasion is the 40th anniversary of the foundation of the Mongolian Peoples Revolutionary Party — The Communist party of the Mongolian state.

JFK, Goldberg Confer Today On Ship Strike

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg was pictured Sunday as almost convinced that only a Taft-Hartley injunction can cut off the three-coast maritime strike.

Goldberg was scheduled to fly to Cape Cod late Sunday night for a 9:45 a. m. Monday conference with President Kennedy.

Andrew Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen that following a telephone call he found Goldberg "not very optimistic that the tie-up could be ended without use of Taft-Hartley."

Government efforts to get the 80,000 striking maritime workers back on the job, the steaming crisis in Kuwait and the U.S. reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's stern note on Berlin encoached on Kennedy's holiday weekend.

He got out for another cruise amid the pleasant breezes of Nantucket Sound, but remained in communication by telephone with Goldberg and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Kennedy talked twice with Rusk, once Saturday night and again Sunday morning, Hatcher said. He received an intelligence briefing from Brig. Gen. Chester V. Clifton, his military aide, after attending Mass with Mrs. Kennedy.

Goldberg has been keeping a direct hand on negotiations to halt the 17-day shipping strike which has hit Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coast ports.

When hopes of a settlement were raised last week, Kennedy gave his three-man fact-finding board an extension of time from Friday until Monday at 9 a. m. to report on the situation.

Goldberg will bring that report with him and deliver it at his scheduled 9:45 a. m. meeting. Kennedy would use its findings to make the final decision as to whether he should send the Justice Department to court for the Taft-Hartley law injunction requiring an 80-day cooling-off period while the seamen returned to work.

Queen Mother Marie Of Yugoslavia Buried

WINDSOR, England (AP)—Queen Mother Marie of Yugoslavia was buried Sunday in the royal burial ground at Grofmore, near Windsor.

Marie, second daughter of Queen Marie of Romania and mother of exiled former King Peter of Yugoslavia, died at her London home June 22 at the age of 61.

The Duchess of Kent, representing Queen Elizabeth II, attended the funeral service at the Serbian Orthodox church in London.

Russ Claim 2-1 Edge Over U.S. In Engineers

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union claimed Sunday it has more than twice as many engineers as the United States.

A government survey showed that as of last Dec. 1, there were 1.1 million engineers employed in the U.S.S.R., Tass news agency said.

The survey also said Soviet colleges trained 120,000 engineers last year against 38,000 in the United States.

Cops, Rain Halt Free-For-All

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—The remnants of a milling, fighting crowd of young people were scattered by a sudden and heavy rainfall early Sunday after police and sheriff's deputies had restored order in this southeastern Wisconsin resort community.

Earlier Saturday night several thousand youths swarmed into the community which is celebrating its 75th anniversary. Fighting broke out among the visitors and between the youths and police. Order was restored when authorities threatened to use tear gas and fire hoses.

"The rain came down in buckets and gobs," said Deputy Sheriff John Bumbalek Sunday. "It was the best thing that could have happened."

Bumbalek said three youths were taken into custody, charged with disorderly conduct and released after posting bond.

Lakeland Hospital at nearby Elkhorn, the only medical facility in the area, said Sunday that no one had been admitted there in connection with the disturbance, although police said Saturday night that at least two persons were injured.

Anxious 2½ Hours

Girl Holds Police Chief Hostage At Gun Point

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—A young woman approached a parked car Saturday night, pulled a gun and told the occupants, "I'm going to shoot myself a couple of policemen."

The woman, who described herself as a former mental patient, held one of the car's occupants, Patricia Campbell, 15, in terror at gunpoint until Police Chief Sam Rebarbs offered himself as a hostage.

After the woman, Mildred Weaver, 18, accepted the offer, Rebarbs and Asst. Chief Gordon Loveland spent an anxious 2½ hours before talking her into giving up.

Holiday Deaths Soar; Rain, Heat Help Boost Toll

By The Associated Press
Traffic 258
Boating 23
Drowning 69

Total 396

Independence weekend holiday deaths rolled ahead relentlessly Sunday, approximately 25 per cent higher than National Safety Council estimates.

George C. Stewart, executive vice president of the NSC, said, "Should this rate continue unchecked, the final toll could pass 550, exceeding the record for the summer holiday of 471 during the 1950 Fourth of July."

"How can any intelligent person be aware of the size of the toll and fail to double his care behind the wheel?" Stewart asked.

Rain slicked highways in many areas in the nation. But most of the country enjoyed dry conditions. Most of the East and much of the South were blanketed by warm weather, the kind that encourages people to go places.

The council has figured that 450 Americans may lose their lives in the four-day holiday weekend which began at 6 p. m. local time Friday and which will end at midnight Tuesday.

The Associated Press made a survey of a non-holiday weekend of the same time span—from 6 p. m. Friday, June 16, to midnight Tuesday, June 20. The tally of deaths then was: 362 traffic, 33 boating, 80 drownings that didn't involve boats, and 99 in a variety of other accidents, for a total of 574.

During the three-day observance of the Fourth of July last year, fatalities included 442 in traffic, 34 boating, 126 drownings and 110 in the miscellaneous class, for an over-all toll of 713.

Fact-Finders Halt Efforts At Mediation

Goldberg Is Said To Feel Only T-H Use Can End Tieup

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations were cut off Sunday in the nationwide maritime strike, and President Kennedy's fact-finding board began drawing up its report on the advisability of a Taft-Hartley injunction.

The presidential fact-finders broke off their mediation efforts in the 17-day-old strike amid reports that Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg was almost convinced that only a federal back-to-work order could end the strike.

A few hours before the negotiations were broken off by the fact-finders, the chairman of the three-member group said: "Unless a miracle happens there cannot be a complete peace in the maritime dispute."

David L. Cole made the remark shortly before agreement was reached between two unions and a group of shipowners which freed about 200 South Atlantic and Gulf Coast vessels from the strike restrictions.

Federal mediators said the vessels would be free to leave port immediately.

Work Past Deadline

The fact-finders worked past a noon deadline set earlier before breaking off their efforts.

They will report to President Kennedy Monday on the strike's effects. Their findings probably will play a major role in whether Kennedy will ask that the Taft-Hartley injunction be invoked.

Anticipating a possible injunction, some labor leaders have warned that the 80-day return to work "cooling-off period" under an injunction would turn into a "heating-up" period.

They said workers probably would leave their jobs again in September when the injunction provisions expired.

Goldberg was scheduled to fly from Washington to Kennedy's holiday vacation headquarters in Cape Cod, Mass., Sunday night. He will confer with the President Monday morning.

Andrew Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen he had spoken earlier in the day with Goldberg and found him "not very optimistic that the tieup could be ended without use of Taft-Hartley."

Goldberg's Plan Ignored

Goldberg visited New York last week and personally appealed to both sides in an effort to halt the strike which has all but crippled American ship movements out of Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coast ports. An estimated 82,000 seamen who man about 800 American vessels are involved in the dispute.

The agreement earlier in the day was reached between the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union and the American Radio Association and a group representing 50 companies with about 200 vessels.

Most shipowners had reached tentative agreement with the National Maritime Union, largest of the labor groups involved, but was unable to extend it to the four other major unions and several smaller groups.

A main stumbling block to settlement is the union demand for bargaining rights on foreign-flag ships under American control but registered under so-called flags of convenience.

Wages and other economic issues have played a minor role in the negotiations.

10 Of Kennedy's 16 'Must' Items Clear Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The heavily Democratic Congress has sent President Kennedy 10 measures of the 16 on the list of priority items he submitted in February. But the other six will come hard.

Democratic leaders insist the score is pretty good so far and point out that the 1961 session has as much as two months to go. But they concede privately that the last six items on the February list, particularly the three dealing with education, will not be as easy to get through as several of the first 10.

The most far-reaching and most controversial of the six are the $2.55-billion general public school aid bill and the proposal to provide health care for the elderly under the Social Security system. The Senate has passed the school bill and it has been approved by the House Education Committee. But it is still in the Rules Committee in a bitter snarl involving aid to church schools and other complicating factors.

This is the status of the other four pending items: Easing of restrictions on trade with and aid to Communist satellite nations—Passed Senate; no House hearings scheduled. Federal aid for college education—Approved by House Education Committee but no action by Rules; Senate hearings planned but not scheduled.

Federal grants for community health activities—Approved by House Interstate Commerce Committee but no action by Rules; Senate hearings planned but not scheduled.

Federal aid for medical education—Hearings completed by Senate Health subcommittee, but no action on bill; no House hearings scheduled so far.

The President has supplemented his 16-point list with a dozen other important proposals. One of these, the omnibus farm bill, is certain to be rewritten drastically if it can be salvaged.

at all. Another, tax revision, has drawn strong opposition but still is under intense consideration in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Two other important measures not on the 16 points, highway financing and housing, were sent to Kennedy last week and signed into law largely in the form in which he recommended them.

These are the 10 items on the February list on which action has been completed: Social Security broadening, signed last Friday; emergency unemployment benefits; aid for dependent children of unemployed fathers; depressed areas; minimum wage; feed grains; government reorganization; establishment of an Office of International Travel; creation of 73 federal judgeships; and ratification of the treaty setting up the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

French troops and riot police battled Moslem demonstrators Sunday in the market city of Blida, a center of some of Saturday's bloodiest rioting.

Police arrested eight ring-leaders but no new casualties were reported. Eleven persons died and about 90 were wounded Saturday when Moslem groups demonstrated throughout Algeria to protest against French President Charles de Gaulle's plan to partition this desert nation into native and European sections if peace negotiations fail.

The clash at Blida, about 30 miles southwest of here, marred an otherwise tense but calm Sunday. Police said about 100 Moslem youths marched through Blida shouting rebel slogans and refused to disperse peacefully.

Powerful police and military turnouts kept a tight grip on Algiers and surrounding cities and prevented further rioting.

Eight thousand grieving Moslems turned out in Algiers' suburbs for the funerals of three of the six Moslems killed Saturday, but strong detachments of paratroopers and other forces kept watch from strategic vantage points. The mourners marched silently and made no attempt to tangle with police again.

Experts Predict Boom But High Unemployment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The economy will be strong in the second half of 1961 but high unemployment will persist, experts predicted Sunday at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's business outlook conference.

With an eye on the Berlin crisis Chamber President Richard Wagner warned that "the international political situation is not clearing up and could generate some hesitancy."

However, in summing up the panelists' views, Wagner said the economy was about to climb to "new high ground, with expansion broadly shared by all major sectors."

The experts supported the Kennedy administration forecast that the Gross National Product — the nation's total business activity — would climb to a record annual rate of $530 billion by December.

Several panelists cited, and none disputed, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon's prediction of an 8 per cent leap in 1962 — meaning a business boom.

The panelists confined their forecasts to the last six months of 1961. They foresaw increased auto production, some upward drift in interest rates, a strong steel output in October, November and December after the usual summer lull, continued but not sensational strength in construction and a rise in capital investment late in the year.

Wagner said the 1960-61 recession was mild and largely confined to inventory reduction. He said it "would have been largely unnoticed" except for the rise in unemployment "and the drastic decline in profits."

Although business is likely to continue to expand "well into next year or longer," Wagner said, "unemployment remains a stubborn problem."

He said it was compounded by the increase in the minimum wage higher payroll taxes for Social Security and "upward adjustments of wage-fringe costs."

10 Cuba Prisoners Plan U.S. Fund Drive

MIAMI (UPI) — Ten Cuban prisoners sent here by Fidel Castro to attempt to resurrect the tractor-for-prisoners trade announced Sunday they will spend their remaining seven days of parole in this country launching a new fund drive to buy tractors.

In a joint declaration the ten Castro prisoners said that "within days a new collecting committee will be formed — if American laws and officials permit it — to carry the negotiations to a fruitful end."

The prisoners are visiting relatives here after a week of talks in Key West with John Hooker, executive secretary of the defunct Tractors-for-Freedom Committee. Hooker informed them that members of the committee could do no further business with Castro.

Hickenlooper, Jackson Urge A-Test Resumption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two radio-TV program recorded here by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., for use over New York stations, Keating supported their views.

Conceding that there is strong opposition in some parts of the world to resumption of nuclear testing, Keating said, "This factor should not be decisive."

"We are not engaged in a world popularity contest with the Russians," Keating said. "We are engaged in a battle for survival and we must never forget that."

Hickenlooper said he favors resumption of underground nuclear tests immediately but added: "The decision is entirely up to the President and it's being held up, of course, in the White House."

Sen. Jackson said he opposed the testing moratorium as a mistake at the outset and added that "three years of filibustering on the part of the Soviets is confirmation of that judgment."

Owner Revives Dog By Breathing Into Its Mouth

WINDSOR, England (AP) — A widow breathed into her pet pug dog's mouth for two hours Saturday to revive the animal after it had collapsed through heat exhaustion.

The pug, Vi Queen Black Violet, was prostrated after a 100-mile trip for exhibition in a local dog show.

The owner, Violet Furnace, 66, of Broadstairs, battled to save the dog sheltered under a tree from the sweltering sun.

Ice water was used in the desperate bid to revive the pug, but the heartbeat stopped. Cupping her hands, Mrs. Furnace breathed into the animal's mouth. Nothing happened at first but then it worked. After a heart injection the dog was on the way to recovery.

Cambodia Chief Says Reds Have Won Laos

GENEVA (UPI) — Cambodian Chief of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk said Sunday night the Communist-backed troops of the Pathet Lao "have won the battle in Laos" and will control Laos' destiny.

Sihanouk made the statement at a lavish reception he gave shortly after his foreign minister had predicted Laos will go Communist "as surely as rivers flow towards the sea."

The neutralist Sihanouk told newsmen he also saw no hope of saving Laos from Communism.

"Any government which is formed in Laos will be based on the will of Souvanna Phouma and Souphanouvong" — the Laotian princely half-brothers supported by Moscow and Peiping," he said.

Sihanouk said Laos' King Savang Vathana and pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum "will have to capitulate to the demands of Souvanna Phouma in the forthcoming negotiations on a coalition government."

UAW Puts Heat On GM In Drive For Pay Boosts

DETROIT (AP) — The heat appeared to be on General Motors Corp. Sunday in the United Auto Workers' drive to win pocketbook benefits from the auto makers.

That doesn't mean the UAW is making mighty GM its strike target in event current bargaining talks on new contracts bog down before the Aug. 31 deadline.

It's part of UAW President Walter P. Reuther's new strategy to avoid putting price tags on union demands and to ask the auto companies to join the union in finding answers to what Reuther calls compelling human problems.

The union defines these problems as job security, unemployment, short work weeks and displacement of men by machines in the auto industry.

At the start of bargaining talks last week, the UAW appealed to GM as the auto industry's biggest corporation to lead the way in coming up with some answers.

The union singled out GM as the target for a barrage of questions ranging from how to provide more jobs to how's the best way to put blue collar workers on yearly salaries.

The same questions are being asked Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. But GM is being given the opportunity to answer them first.

So far the auto makers have listened politely to UAW policy statements. They say their main concern is to keep down inflationary pressures and prevent production costs from getting out of hand. UAW leaders say they are proposing nothing inflationary.

GM's vice president, Louis G. Seaton, who is directing negotiations for the company, promised to come up with some proposals as soon as the union completes presentation of its case some time this month.

The auto companies say they have as much interest as the union in keeping workers happy because company efficiency depends on the productivity of the employees.

A one-inch rainfall on an acre of ground would amount to about 113 tons.

Md. Counts Five Traffic Deaths, Six Drownings

By The Associated Press

Maryland recorded five highway deaths and six drownings during the first half of the long Independence Day holiday weekend.

Two of the water-accident victims were teen-age swimmers. Four others drowned after falling from boats.

For statistical purposes the holiday will extend from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Tuesday, July 4.

Sheila Ann Feehery, 19, of Baltimore, drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming at Camp Gabrielle, off Maryland 482 near Hampstead in Carroll County.

State Police said she sank beneath the surface of a lake, at a camp operated by St. Joseph's Monastery of Baltimore, while swimming from a pier to shore. Life guards and volunteer firemen from Hampstead failed in their effort to revive the girl.

Lermont Garrett, 16, of Baltimore, was another Sunday drowning victim. Authorities searched for his body in a gravel quarry near Brooklyn Park in Anne Arundel County.

A Sunday highway accident took the life of Thomas Jefferson Gates Jr., 23, of Baltimore. State Police said he apparently fell asleep while driving on U.S. 220 about six miles south of Cresaptown, Allegany County, and his car went off the road on a curve and struck a metal culvert.

Chinese Dig Wells In Hunt For Water

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese Communists are digging wells in their arid northern provinces in a desperate search for water.

The official New China News Agency reports thousands of drills are working day and night in drought-stricken north and northwest China in an effort to locate underground water.

The annual rainfall in the area is scanty and in some cases reaches only a few inches.

ICC's Piggyback Ruling Raises Hopes Among Railroads For Brighter Future

NEW YORK (AP) — An important Washington ruling regarding controversial piggyback haulage has raised hopes among the nation's railroaders for a bigger and better future.

In piggyback service, focal point in the battle with truck carriers for the transportation dollar, loaded truck trailers are hauled most of their journey on railroad flat cars.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, the federal agency that regulates railroads, last Wednesday gave its blessing to two of the five common modes of piggyback. One of those approved is the pet of railroadmen.

"This decision clears the way for spectacular growth in piggyback service," said Jervis Langdon, president of the faltering Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, one of the nation's oldest.

Executives of other rail carriers were equally jubilant.

And freight forwarders, the people who assemble many small shipments into large blocs that qualify for reduced rates, applauded vigorously. So did transportation experts of many big industries.

Spokesmen for common carrier truckers, however, stung by the ruling, talked of appealing it to the courts. They contend it gives a green light to unlawful, destructive competition.

To the layman, it was hard to tell what the shouting was all about, on either side, because of the little understood complexities of piggybacking.

For example, the decision had no bearing at all on what many persons think of as the most striking form of piggybacking—rail hauling or new automobiles on special rack-equipped flat cars.

In its decision, the ICC upheld:

1. Plan III service, in which the shipper provides the trailer, and the railroad flat car and locomotive.
2. Plan IV service, in which the shipper supplies both trailer and the flat car it rides on, the railroad the locomotive only.

Under the other three plans:

Plan I—The railroad flat car carries the trailer of a for-hire trucker, performing this service only for a negotiated fee, with all arrangements at point of origin and destination made by the trucking firm.

Plan II—The railroad provides door-to-door service, entirely short-circuiting the trucker. This in effect puts the rail carrier in the long-haul trucking field. Presently, it accounts for probably more than half of all piggybacking revenues of about 50 railroads.

Plan V—The railroad and for-hire-truckers go into partnership providing joint service at joint rates.

Not all of the nation's 106 major railroads provide all five services. Many particularly dislike Plan I, feeling it gives aid and comfort to the enemy—truckers. But Plan I came first, before rail carriers figured out more favored plans.

Plan III is the one they love. Although currently it generates only an estimated 7 per cent of their piggybacking railroads, Plan III is growing fast and 37 railroads now offer it.

One of the reasons railmen like hauling the other fellow's trailer, for example one owned by General Electric Co. or General Motors, is that they get a standard rate, generally 50 cents per mile per car.

Thus, there is no problem of filling up, say a box car, a thorny one, since boxcars often go empty on return trips (on the average they travel empty 40 per cent of the time on the rails), generating no revenue.

Under Plan III, the shipper pays for his trailer at the fixed rate, whether full or empty.

Some rail sources say Plan III would be going like wildfire now except for the uncertainties raised by shippers by the case just decided.

When the ICC ruled, it simultaneously approved "underlying" rates proposed by freight forwarders.

Army Seeking Tax Exemption

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of the Army has urged that purchases of building materials for use on federal projects be exempted from Maryland's three per cent sales tax.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Saturday that such an exemption would cost Maryland about $1.65 million annually and that the state stands to lose about $5 million if appeals for refunds for back taxes are granted.

Army legal officers contend the tax regulations are discriminatory. They say comparable purchases for state and local government are exempt from the levy.

Goldstein said he is withholding administrative action in the dispute pending a possible ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, the Department of the Army plans to file suit in a lower federal court, Goldstein said.

Most Md. Farmers Shun Grain Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has reported that fewer than one quarter of Maryland's eligible feed grain producers chose to enroll in the Department of Agriculture's 1961 feed grain program.

The Chamber reported that of the 18,371 Maryland farms meeting eligibility requirements, only 4,161 signed up. Under the plan, eligible farmers can collect cash payments and higher prices in return for agreeing to retire part of their acreage from feed grain growing.

Nationally, fewer than 45 per cent of the eligible feed grain producers have chosen to participate in the federal plan.

Engineer Offices To Be Consolidated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington District office of the Army Engineers will be consolidated with and transferred to the Baltimore Engineer District.

The merger was announced Saturday by Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Lipscomb, North Atlantic Division engineer. A few activities of the Washington District office will remain here under Lt. Col. M. R. Stewart.

Col. Warren R. Johnson, present Baltimore District engineer, heads the new combined office.

Maryland News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Guy Stanley Meloy Jr., a native of Lanham, Md., has been promoted to full general and named to command the 8th Army in the Far East.

Meloy has been deputy commander of the 8th Army in Seoul, Korea, since January.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Maryland counties received more than $3.9 million in federal funds for schools during June, Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md, reported in his weekly newsletter.

Beall said the money is provided for assistance in "federally affected" areas, where the government has established bureaus or military bases which take real estate off local tax rolls.

During June, Allegany, Montgomery, Calvert, Baltimore and Prince Georges counties received payments. Montgomery topped the list with $1.8 million. Allegany received $49,547.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Persons supporting a referendum campaign on a school bus measure have 15 days in which to reply to an injunction suit filed in Baltimore County Circuit Court.

The suit, filed by Del. Herbert H. Tyler, D-Baltimore County, alleges as fraudulent some signatures on petitions signed in the campaign.

The bill provides for free bus service to the county's private and parochial schools.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A record 500 ponies have been entered in the 17th annual Maryland Pony Club, opening Monday at the State Fair Grounds in Timonium. The show runs through Sunday.

Proceeds from the event, sponsored by the North Baltimore Kiwanis Club, will be turned over to the charitable and educational activities of that organization.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steps are being taken in Baltimore to find jobs for Cuban refugees.

A division of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, sponsor of the unsuccessful invasion of Cuba last April has contacted the Maryland Department of Employment Security to assist Cubans in finding employment.

Another aim of the division, according to a spokesman, is to inform the public of the "true facts" of the Cuban problem.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland will join 46 other state and territories in the National Driver Register Service.

John R. Jewell, commissioner, of motor vehicles, said the service keeps a check on motorists denied driving privileges for operating under the influence of alcohol or for highway homicide.

A criminal charge could be brought against a person issued a license in Maryland if a check with the service showed the holder's driving privilege had been revoked elsewhere.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE IN PORT'S ROLL QUALITY!

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

(Copyright 1961. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

HOLLYWOOD — Marjorie Hoshelle, Jeff Chandler's ex-wife, almost said his widow, they were so close during his last and fatal illness many thought they would re-marry—hopes to resume her acting career!

This I learned from a very good friend who told Marg she wanted to give me this news—and Marg said, all right. Her reason for returning to acting is because of "necessity—but I'm not destitute. Please make that clear. Jeff was very good to the children and me. But his estate will not be settled for a year and I need to work because of the money and also for the mental therapy."

Although the newspapers printed that Jeff left a $600,000 estate divided between their two little girls, it is now believed that because of debt and suits, it won't be that much.

I don't believe I've ever heard a man praise a director and co-worker in higher terms than Robert Ryan paid Peter Ustinov. "We worked for 13 hours a day in the blazing hot sun on the water in Italy," Bob said, "but Ustinov's kindness to all the actors, his thoughtfulness and his great creative ability made it bearable."

Bob, who is in town for a few days before rejoining the "Billy Budd" company in London, has the deepest tan he's ever had in his life. He said the weather was awful in Rome and he is looking forward to London where the interiors will be filmed.

"I've been trying to sell Jessica (Mrs. Ryan) on the idea of going back to London with me but she has a fear of flying," Bob said.

Barrie Chase, who went to Sweden about five weeks ago after doing her initial scenes in "Cape Fear" with Greg Peck, has returned to Hollywood.

She admits her trip to Stockholm wasn't for sightseeing but to be with 32-year-old Gunnar Hellstrom, the Swedish actor-director, whom she met while he was here playing a role in "Return to Peyton Place" at the 20th.

When Barrie was asked how serious she was about Hellstrom, she said, "well anything can happen. He'll be here any day now." Hellstrom was very good as a ski instructor in "Peyton."

The capacity first night audience turning out to greet Gypsy Rose Lee in her "A Curious Evening" with Gypsy Rose Lee at the Las Palmas Theatre, didn't realize just how CURIOUS it was! Things were coming up everything BUT roses for Gypsy Rose.

Corinne Griffith's lawyer had served notice that any mention of Corinne must be deleted from the show which brought on a lot of last minute doing. A whole sequence is based on flashbacks to several stars of the silent screen. In deleting Miss Griffith, the whole routine had to be changed at the last minute—including stamping out her name on 10,000 programs. In spite of the commotion, Gypsy felt sufficiently composed to pour champagne for the customers at intermission.

Carla Alberghetti heads for Kansas City to open in Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella" at the Starlight Theatre. "I wanted to telephone to say goodbye," she said. "I'll be gone 10 weeks. I'm doing 'West Side Story' in Warren and Columbus, Ohio, and 'Student Prince' in Detroit."

I asked her if she will star in the road company of "Carnival" in the same role that brought fame to her sister Anna Maria. "Nothing is settled about that," she said, "but Anna wants me to do it very much."

That doll, Joey Bishop, doesn't know where his next free breath is coming from. He finished his location scenes in "Soldiers Three" in Kanab, Utah, on Tuesday, opened at the Sands in Las Vegas for a week on Wednesday, then on July 5 rejoins Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Peter Lawford on the Goldwyn lot in Hollywood to finish the movie.

And that isn't all for Joey. Before he completes the movie he will start shooting his new TV series which starts this fall. All this success couldn't happen to a nicer, or funnier man.

I thought Joan Weldon perfectly charming when I saw her here in "Music Man" so I'm not at all surprised that she has had one of the longest runs in a road show company—"We have played 32 states and now are in Washington D.C.," she told me over the long distance phone.

"But all good things must come to an end and I'm very excited about returning to Broadway for my next show 'Keane'." She went on to say that it is a musical based on the life of the great English actor Edmund Keane. I didn't need to ask Joan if she would sing. Her voice is as pretty as her face.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Desi Arnaz is getting his house at Del Mar ready for the opening of the race meet in August. He has asked Lucille Ball to send their two children to stay with him for the summer.

Janis Paige, who has dated only composer Ray Gilbert for almost a year, is expected to marry him when he is free.

Jack Entratter is building two nursery schools in Israel in memory of Dorothy, his lovely wife who passed away in May. Dorothy did so much work for the needy children. Jack and his daughter Michele will dedicate the schools when they visit Israel in early August.

Rocky and Maria Cooper came to Sam Briskin's party at the Directors Guild after the preview of "Guns of Navarone." They were with Mrs. Fred Zinnemann—remember, Fred directed Gary in "High Noon."

Larry Finley, who has been quite sick, writes that he's returning to the air waves with his "Strictly Informal" TV show sponsored by the Los Angeles Examiner, but on a different network. He'll be on KTLA Channel 5. Neil Hefti and his orchestra are on the opening show, as well as Molly Bee and her bridegroom John Kepp who is one of the cameramen.

Ross Hunter is in Cleveland to be with his father who underwent surgery on Friday.

Gun Blast

good spirits after arriving but that he had been saddened by the recent death of his good friend, actor Gary Cooper.

Chuck Atkinson, a Ketchum businessman and a personal friend of the novelist for 20 years, told reporters Mrs. Hemingway called him shortly after 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

"I rushed over to the house and found Dr. Scott Erle there with Mrs. Hemingway," Atkinson said, "but Hemingway apparently had died instantly."

"Mary was asleep upstairs when it happened. She was awakened by what she thought was a shot, went downstairs and found him. The body was near a big gun rack that he has just off the livingroom."

Atkinson said he then wrote out the brief statement for reporters. "That's what Mary wanted. She feels it was accidental and there was no note," Atkinson said.

Atkinson was with Hemingway Saturday and said the author seemed to be in good spirits.

Coroner McGoldrick said he was called to the Hemingway home at 7:45 a.m. and returned the body to his mortuary in Ketchum.

"The funeral and burial will be in Ketchum," McGoldrick said. "This was Mr. Hemingway's home, he loved it here. He was one of us and acted as a pallbearer for me a couple times—once when one of his favorite guides passed away."

Hemingway won world fame in 1929 with his novel "A Farewell to Arms," which was based partly on his own experiences as an ambulance driver and soldier.

Then came a succession of novels. He was fascinated by bull-fighters who died in the ring and his "Death in the Afternoon," published in 1932, was a story of the bull ring and the matadors. The author himself once suffered several broken ribs while trying bull fighting. At the time he said he was "too old, too heavy and too awkward" for the sport.

Hemingway won the 1953 Pulitzer Prize for fiction with his simple and compassionate story, "The Old Man and the Sea," the story of an aged fisherman's fight to land a giant catch.

Hemingway won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1954 for his works in general. The citation, however, mentioned "The Old Man and the Sea."

Other books that brought fame to Hemingway included "For Whom the Bell Tolls" and "Across the River and into the Trees."

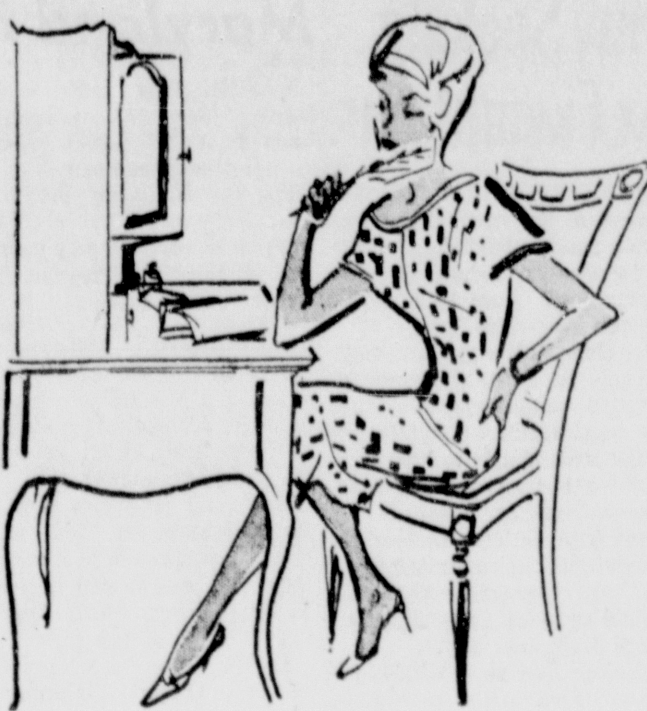

Men Outnumbered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington is a great place for bachelors.

They are outnumbered by unmarried women to the extent of 84,367 to 82,417, the Census Bureau reports.

It's the only place in the country where this ratio exists, the bureau went on to say, and nationally single men outnumber single women 15,412,733 to 12,380,049.

Five United States presidents married twice—Tyler, Harrison, Fillmore, Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sitting Pretty

"Why do women sit on the edges of their chairs?" a doctor friend of mine asked one noon as we both sat watching the restaurant crowd around us. "If they only knew how bad it is for them not to get some good out of sitting once they've slowed down enough to sit."

"But I think it will do more good for you to tell them than for me to. I can't talk these busy women into relaxing to save their health, so maybe it's up to you to appeal to their vanity. Tension certainly does spoil their looks."

We saw few women indeed who sat far enough back in their seats hardly one who leaned back. Many of them were bag clutchers, chair arm grippers, and fist clencher. Plenty of frowners too.

A gracefully erect position is the correct one always. Both a beautiful and a healthful posture require it — a straight spinal column with the head weight carried directly above it, straight shoulders.

But for it, the sitting bones must be placed squarely on the chair seat, not perched on the edge to throw the weight forward. And certainly a graceful sitting position is a comfortable one.

Tense poses of all kinds are awkward, full of sharp angles in 1937. In 1945-1946 he was a rather than graceful curves. And Nieman Fellow in Journalism at muscle strain from clutching, Harvard University.

gripping, and fist clenching is most unflattering to hands. Veins distend and knuckles whiten. As for unbecoming frowns, being keyed up and uncomfortable brings them on fast. How about it? Wouldn't following the doctor's advice to sit so there's some rest from sitting be worthwhile?

Manning Is Named To N.Y. Editor Post

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert Manning, 41, has been named Sunday editor of the New York Herald Tribune effective Aug. 1, John Denson, editor, announced Sunday.

Manning, a native of Binghamton, N. Y., is a veteran newspaperman and a former senior editor of Time Magazine.

He recently headed the London bureau of Time-Life-Fortune. In 1946-1949 he was chief of the United Nations Bureau of United Press. He also served as State Department and White House correspondent for United Press, and at one time was a correspondent for Associated Press.

He began his career as a reporter for the Binghamton Press in 1937. In 1945-1946 he was a Nieman Fellow in Journalism at Harvard University.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ever since I read about the first American being shot into outer space I've been trying to get my husband to volunteer. The reason: In the 22 years that I've known him he has not been able to get along with one person on this earth. Perhaps somebody on the moon might suit him.

His beliefs are as follows: (1) Women were put on this earth to satisfy the whims and desires of men.

(2) Children should open their mouths only to eat and say "May I?" or "Thank you."

(3) Religion is a racket.

(4) Money can do anything. It can give you prestige, power, respectability, plus all the comforts that are worth having.

(5) People are no damned good. Everybody is out to take everybody else. The smart guy is the one who gets his knife in first.

I am sure, Ann, that he belongs out of this world. If Uncle Sam will take him I'd be happy to let him go. —MRS. NOTHING

DEAR MRS. NOTHING: I don't think Uncle Sam would take him. He sounds too sick to make the trip.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: One sentence in your column recently convinced me that not only do you know the score, but you know who's playing—and how some of that playing got started.

I refer to your answer to the mother whose 18-year-old son quit high school because he had to marry a 16-year-old girl. You suggested the possibility that it isn't always the fellow who is to blame for getting the girl in trouble. I know from experience that some girls are so aggressive that it's unbelievable.

I'm not bragging because I am not an especially handsome guy and I'm certainly not the type that women go crazy over, but I recall a few experiences of my own when I was of high school age. As I look back, it gives me the screaming giggles.

The Lord is my witness when I say I remember three girls who were under 18. They took over and that was that. I was luckier than the guy named Al, but it could have been me in Al's shoes. —HORSESHOE JACK

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I met a boy last year whom I like a lot. My sister is married to his brother. My Dad doesn't like my sister's husband and he takes it out on Ron. Last night he said, "I wish you'd stop seeing that jerk. One kid from that crazy family is enough."

Ann, I'm only 17, and Ron is 18. I certainly am not thinking of marriage. I don't even want to go steady. All I want to do is date him without worrying that Dad will insult him to his face. Will you please say a word to my father through the paper?

—NO HOPE

DEAR NO HOPE'S FATHER: If you want to make sure both daughters have the same in-laws, just continue to knock the kid. Nothing makes a fellow quite so attractive to a girl as being forced to defend him against her parents.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — J. D. Quillen Jr. president of the Ocean City Chamber of Commerce estimated that about 125,000 vacationing visitors arrived in the seaside resort Saturday for the start of the long July 4th weekend.

Quillen said accommodations in the city were "practically full." Extra detachments of state and local police were on hand to head off teen-age rioting of the kind that erupted last summer, but no disturbances were reported.

And Now, The Neutron Bomb

The new-fangled fusion, or hydrogen, bomb was developed as a successor to the old-fangled fission bomb. It is far more powerful. Now a third type of controlled atomic reaction may be in the offing in the weapons race.

In theory the neutron bomb has been deemed possible by scientists for some years. It would kill not by terrific heat or concussion, or both, in the manner of the old-fashioned atom bomb. It would kill by radiation of those nuclear particles called neutrons, able to spread death over a limited area.

How would such "death rays" work? A physicist puts it like this:

"The human body looks solid but is mostly open spaces between the atoms. These devilish little neutrons can even penetrate steel through its open spaces. If vast numbers enter the body, some are bound to hit nuclei of cells and destroy them, causing death."

What would set off a neutron bomb? Secrecy surrounds whatever device it is that can produce the great heat required. It is supposed the Russians so far do not know how to make the neutron bomb.

It is certain that the United States cannot make it into a weapon without the eventual opportunity to test it. That is why it has recently been discussed in speeches in House and Senate and in the secrecy of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Its advocates regard the neutron bomb as a good weapon for limited warfare.

These Days

The Expense Accounts

It would not be absurd for one who was accustomed to live in a log cabin to find a $30 a day expense account not only sufficient but with ample to spare. He might live on hamburgers and hot dogs, sleep wherever he could, sponge on his acquaintances, use kerosene instead of gasoline for his car, wear a Beatrix costume and shave on Christmas and Easter only.

For the business man, particularly salesmen, $30 a day is almost too little to bother about, particularly if it is necessary to keep books too. And that is the worst thing about all these tax matters — the keeping of books. Let the boss get indigestion! Let the Japanese or West Germans sell the goods!

The United States pays $30,000 a year for Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's apartment at the Waldorf Astoria. It is not too much. Such an ambassador has to entertain constantly and he must have a suitable place for that purpose. We want votes in the United Nations and we need to do what is necessary and usual to get them.

What would happen to Adlai Stevenson's representation at the United Nations if he were permitted to spend only $30 a day? Off-hand I would say that he would meet with complete failure. Many of the delegates would be insulted because they were not invited to dinner according to protocol. This is the way of the world. For $30 a day, Stevenson could not do much entertaining at the Waldorf or any other hotel or restaurant in New York.

Of course, some business men have abused the expense accounts, for which there can be no justification. They charge everything that other men normally pay for themselves out of earnings to their business expense account. But the fact that some men are dishonest does not justify hog-tying American business so that it cannot do its work adequately. That is the fallacy of generalizing from the particular.

One of the most important phases of American business activity is the convention. There men meet those who are in the same line or who have similar or associated interests.

There they listen to speeches on important subjects, often by representatives of government. There new ideas are widely circulated and new products are exhibited. The convention is essential to the conduct of modern business because men live so far apart.

Such conventions are usually held in large cities where there are suitable convention halls or in such special places as Hot Springs where the hotels are adjusted for the purposes. New York City has recently built the Coliseum for convention purposes at great expense. Many large cities maintain convention bureaus to get the conventions to come to their cities. As regards political conventions cities are known to make a heavy contribution to the convention fund. The idea is that the shops, theaters, restaurants, hotels benefit from conventions which bring considerable money into the town and they are worthwhile.

No one could attend a convention today on a top limit of $30 a day. It would hardly pay for food, drinks and cigars. If it were one of those affairs to which the wife was brought to prove that the male animal really was a very busy man, doing honest and useful work, $30 a day would barely pay for the extra clothes mamma had to buy so that she might look as presentable as the rest of the folks. No man wants to hear:

"Business must be bad for Jack. Look at his wife! She wears clothes that a steno would not be seen in."
That can start sensitive business rumors that could do considerable damage. Business has many facets, not the least of which is establishing sound credit not only in the sense of current balances but confidence in the future. In this respect an expense account becomes as important as advertising or public relations.

When an expense account is used as untaxed salary, the twister should be punished for fraud. But when the expense account is used to stimulate business, to interchange ideas, to bring in customers, to be productive in the national welfare, then it is more than justified by the results it attains.

Certainly $30 a day, at present prices, is not enough for anything.

Our Misguided Missile

President Takes Step Toward Resumed Testing

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

In Geneva in the summer of 1958, Soviet Academician Michael A. Sadovsky rather casually suggested that underground nuclear tests might be made far harder to detect by "tamping" the explosions with various substances that would muffle their power.

Sadovsky's suggestion was ignored at the time by the American members of the joint "technical working group" which had been set up to prepare ground rules for control of all nuclear tests. The Americans were then using wholly misleading data about underground testing. But these data were quite drastically corrected by the "Hardtack" experiments of the fall of 1958.

The "Hardtack" experiments showed that it was very easy indeed to increase the difficulty of detecting any underground explosions. "Decoupling," which merely means digging a bigger hole, was the method used. Thus the explosions were tamped, not with any special muffling substances, but quite simply with air. The principle was exactly what Sadovsky had had in mind, although the application was somewhat different.

All the results of the "Hardtack" experiments were transmitted to the Soviet scientists in January, 1959. The covering message suggested the need for major improvements in the plan for controlling underground tests which had been agreed upon a few months ago.

The same point was made when the technical working group was reconvened for the famous presentation of the "Hardtack" data by Dr. Hans A. Bethe. But at this meeting, Academician Sadovsky loudly ridiculed the scientific validity of the same tamping principle which he had himself previously suggested.

This curious sequence of events is now worth recalling, if only because it shows how much nonsense has been talked by many high-minded persons. In large sectors of the scientific community, for instance, it is an endlessly reiterated commonplace that the Soviet scientists were genuinely astonished by Dr. Bethe's exposition of the "Hardtack" data.

Yet consider the little incident in the 1958 technical working group, which has never before been published. It shows very clearly that the Soviet scientists understood the principle of tamping, if not the best method, long before it was understood by the American scientists. Hence their astonishment must have been feigned. The whole thing has a fishy smell — a smell of quite imaginable secret Soviet nuclear testing underground.

President Kennedy has now convened a special scientific panel, to determine whether "the Soviet Union has been or could be engaged in secret testing of nuclear weapons" and "what technical progress in weapons could (thus) be under way." The answers can be given without further ado.

The first fact to remember is that underground tests can only be detected, at present, by the earthquake-like effects they produce. The second fact to remember is that international systems of detecting and controlling underground tests have been endlessly discussed, but they are not yet in being. For these reasons, the Soviets have always been able to conduct secret underground tests of weapons of a power up to 30 kilotons plus. Such tests need no tamping or decoupling, and they do not produce more than most routine earthquake-like effects beyond the borders of the U.S.S.R.

But suppose the Soviets had already begun to dig big holes, for decoupled tests, when Academician Sadovsky mentioned the tamping principle in the summer of 1958. Then they could have conducted quite successfully concealed tests in the lower megaton range by the summer of 1960. Or suppose they merely began to dig big holes when they received the "Hardtack" data in January, 1959. Then they could have conducted undetected megaton-power tests during the past winter. These facts explode another favorite commonplace of many high-minded persons. This is the theory that even if the Soviets had been, or are now, cheating, they cannot get much of anywhere by doing so, since they can only conceal tests of relatively valueless tactical nuclear weapons of low explosive power.

In reality, the Atomic Energy Commission's experts consider that "miniaturized" kiloton-power tests are quite good enough to prove the usefulness of megaton-power strategic weapons. Furthermore, if the Soviets have just gone to the bother and expense of digging big holes, they may already have tested greatly improved H-bomb warheads at close to full power, and still without detection by us.

In sum, the answer to the President's two questions is that we do not know the Soviets have been cheating, but they could have cheated very easily; they can still do so; and the benefit to them can be considerable. Since the President knows this answer already, it is difficult to believe that the appointment of the special scientific panel is anything but a step on the road toward resumed American testing.

Picture-Taking Balloon Latest Cancer Detector

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A balloon that photographs the inside of the stomach promises to be the latest tool in the diagnosis of gastric cancer. The photo is not a finished picture such as we see in newspapers and magazines. If cancer is present, the lesion shows up as a black gob—not beautiful but as meaningful to the surgeon as the blotches on a canvas to a modern painter.

In the balloon technique, the individual is given an injection of radioactive phosphorus. Eight to 10 hours later the picture-taking deflated balloon is swallowed. Meanwhile the radioactive phosphorus is circulating through the body and settling in different tissues.

A greater amount settles in cancer than in normal cells so that the highest concentration occurs in malignant tumors or ulcers. This means that more light rays are being produced from a small cancerous area than from the adjacent normal gastric tissue.

The balloon is coated on the inside with a light sensitive emulsion that makes it comparable to an unused camera film. This was a tricky invention because it was necessary to develop a solution that stuck to the inside of the balloon and did not crack when expanded. The Eastman research laboratories solved this problem.

The balloon is inflated and left in the stomach 4 hours, during which time it is exposed to the radioactive rays of the phosphorus. The balloon is then deflated and removed for study. The rays from the phosphorus concentrate in the malignancy and produce a dark spot on the film. No spot is noted when the lesion is benign. Occasionally phosphorus settles in innocent ulcers but to a lesser degree than in cancer.

The picture taking balloon is being used by surgeons at the University of Minnesota hospitals and also at Presbyterian - St. Luke's hospital in Chicago. Hundreds of persons have swallowed the balloon and in one series of cases the test detected cancer correctly in 31 of the first 35 patients with this condition.

Kennedy Faced Decision Between Sam Rayburn And Campaign Pledge

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy last week faced a decision between a flat campaign pledge he made before election and the influence of Speaker Sam Rayburn. He had to choose one or the other.

The tug-of-war revolved around the appointment of an oil and gas man to the Federal Power Commission. Speaker Rayburn wanted Laurence J. O'Connor of Texas, a former vice president of the Goldstone Oil Corporation, appointed to the current vacancy.

But President Kennedy in a speech Oct. 17 at Springfield, Ohio, promised emphatically that he would not do this. He said that appointees to regulatory commissions would represent the public, not any one industry.

Here is exactly what he said: "No federal appointee to any public regulatory agency shall represent any view other than the public interest. Appointments to such agencies shall be made with the advice of those knowledgeable in the field, but shall not be dictated by those with vested interest in the appointment."

Sam Rayburn has done some great things for his country. But he has one weak spot—understandable for a Congressman from Texas. Sam always votes with, stands up for, and champions the oil and gas companies. He has been the consistent, indefatigable battler for the oil depletion allowance. He has gone to bat for his oil and gas friends right down the line. And today he is demanding the appointment of O'Connor to the Power Commission.

Faced with this demand, Kennedy ignored his campaign pledge, appointed O'Connor.

Republicans are delighted. In the first place, O'Connor is an Eisenhower appointee. Ike put him in charge of oil imports in the interior department. Second, Republicans are getting ready to focus attention on Kennedy's close friendship with Charles Wrightsman, former president of the Standard Oil Company of Kansas, whom the President visits frequently over week ends in Palm Beach.

GOP strategists are waiting for the right time to accuse JFK of being soft on oil because of personal friendships and despite campaign pledges.

Tractors For Friendship

The Tractors for Freedom Committee now has a certain amount of cash promised to buy 500 tractors to fulfill a pledge Fidel Castro has reneged on. Why not use that money to show up Castro for what he is?

Specifically, why not buy the 500 tractors and deliver them, freshly painted and draped in the Stars and Stripes, to other needy countries in Latin America as a reminder that the grandstanding dictator of Cuba, like Hitler, puts machinery ahead of human lives.

Tractors are even more needed in other Latin countries than in Cuba—and far more deserved. The gifts could be based on an essay contest in Latin-American schools on the subject: "How to improve the good neighbor relations" or "How to make democracy work in Latin America."

The schools are open in South America right now. In most of its countries this is the winter season. If every high school student got interested in such a contest, with the first prize a tractor for his or her family, it could really focus attention, first on Fidel's infidelity, second on North American friendship.

During the first election held by the new republic of Italy in 1948, I suggested, by shortwave radio, an essay contest on "How to make democracy live." It was conducted throughout Italy, and the first prize was a tractor, presented by Algis Chalmers. Though a Naples schoolteacher, not a farmer, finally won the tractor, he was able to auction it off with a profit, and with even more attention focused on the USA. The Communists took quite a beating in the election.

There are all sorts of ways to make the 500 tractors, which Castro spurned, plough friendship fields for the United States below the Rio Grande.

Diplomatic Dispatches

Prime Minister MacMillan privately has suggested any East-West conference on Berlin be delayed until after the German elections in October. Any meeting before then, he believes, will get tangled in the German campaign, thereby restricting Chancellor Adenauer's ability to make concessions. . . . The Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended strengthening the American garrison in Berlin as one in a series of military moves to get set for a showdown with Russia. One proposal is to move an American airborne division into Germany at the critical moment. Secretary McNamara has not yet approved these recommendations. But with General Taylor now in the White House, the Joint Chiefs can go over McNamara's head. . . . Chancellor Adenauer is delighted at the appointment of Gen. Maxwell Taylor as military adviser to President Kennedy. Adenauer knows that Taylor is as tough regarding Berlin and will recommend no important concessions to the Soviet. . . . Secretary of State Rusk has told top officials they can take their wives on overseas good-will trips or to attend international conferences. Too often diplomats' wives stick closely to the American community but the Secretary believes it's time for the ladies to get out and help their husbands with their work. . . . CIA Director Allen Dulles knows his days are numbered. But he is desperately hoping JFK will let him stay on the job until late this year when the CIA is scheduled to move into its palatial $60,000,000 headquarters in near-by Virginia.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The most interested spectator at the trial was the defendant. He listened to the testimony as though he was sleeping through a slow nightmare. Rudolph Durringer was on trial for killing Virginia Brannen. It was as though he was hearing, for the first time, the details of his crime.

He was drunk when he shot Miss Brannen. Blind drunk. He had no recollection of that particular evening except that he had called for her and he remembered waking up the following morning with a head full of loose rocks. The jury did not excuse him. He went to the chair.

Booze was Durringer's enemy. It is responsible for one-third of all crimes of violence in this country. It makes a timid man brave; it makes a brave one reckless; it makes a reckless one a maniac.

My thinking on this subject was jogged by a paper called The Mentor. It is published by prisoners at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at South Walpole. The 72-point black headline of the June issue reads: "A.A. Behind Prison Walls."

It seemed ridiculous. How could a group of prisoners get drunk? Not that alcohol has not been smuggled into many prisons, and sold by officials with no conscience at exorbitant prices. It is being done now. However, Alcoholics Anonymous seemed to be as out of place in a prison as a yacht club would be in the Sahara Desert.

On second or third thought I remembered that an alcoholic is always an alcoholic, whether he is sober or drunk. Therefore, if he needs assistance, he needs it all the time, whether he is in an institution or free. The branch of A.A. at South Walpole has 60 members. The head of the group is a prisoner named Tommy B.

He and Joe Martin, editor of The Mentor, worked together to spread the word. Two paragraphs of the lead editorial are worth a little additional circulation:

"Open house meetings are held here twice weekly. Outside guests never fail to appear and assist their own through personal discussion of their problems. It may seem odd that men in prison worry about their alcoholic problems where there is no alcohol available. These men are sensible enough to be aware that the problem is not one of availability, it is the deep desire they possess for alcohol that must be rooted out. . . . "We cannot quote from any statistical data, but we would be willing to gamble that seven out of ten men who are faithful members of this group shall never return to prison. In actuality, A.A. members compose a great percentage of those successfully remaining out of prison following discharge. We challenge any authority to prove us wrong. . . . In June, Chapter 13 of A.A. had its annual banquet. The members invited people from the outside world to come in and share the dinner. They also invited authorities from the Massachusetts Correction Dept. The members didn't know if anyone from outside would show up. The best they could do was hope.

The party was a big success. Outsiders from all walks of life arrived to lend moral support to the A.A. group. The biggest surprise was the arrival of prison officials. It seemed awkward, for awhile, to have prisoners passing the salt to the men who keep them inside.

"It should be mentioned," Joe Martin writes, "that during intermission a get-together over coffee and cakes set all at ease and a good time was reported by all." Some of the larger police departments have chapters of A.A. Alcohol, out of control, is no respecter of the law. It hits cops as well as robbers, and judges as well as doctors. The most difficult thing for the alcoholic, I imagine, is to admit to himself that he cannot handle the stuff. It hurts even more to know that the world is full of people to whom a cocktail is a pleasure, and that good wine can lift the spirits and make the heart sing. Some can. Some can't.

I had a Springer Spaniel once who was an alcoholic. He was drunk every day at noon and it required two weeks of tracking to find out which saloon was giving him a free ride. When I shut off the supply, the ingrate bit me.

Millions of people — men as well as women — are alive today solely because of the Alcoholics Anonymous program. It needs no endorsement here, but it is a measure of my ignorance that I was surprised to find that there are chapters of A.A. in prisons.

It only proves that when you take one more for the road, it may lead to the road gang. . . .

Pirates Whip Giants Twice, Orioles Stop Detroit

Shantz Beats San Francisco In Second, 9-0

Trailing 6-3, Bucs Win First With Four Runs In Eighth, 7-6

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A four-run eighth inning rally in the first game and Bobby Shantz' five-hit shutout pitching in the rain-shortened nightcap against San Francisco sparked Pittsburgh to its first doubleheader victory of the season Sunday, 7-6 and 9-0.

The four-run rally came in the first game with the Giants ahead 6-3.

In the nightcap, shortened to 6½ innings by rain, Shantz was aided by six unearned runs in the sixth. Joey Amalfitano's error on a potential double play ball paved the way for the runs, three of them coming across on Bob Clemente's triple.

Don Hoak also drove across three runs in the second game with his seventh home run of the season, a sacrifice fly and a single.

In winning his fifth game against one loss, Shantz allowed only one Giant to reach third.

Orlando Cepeda drove in three of the Giants' runs in the opener with a two-run home run, his 21st, and a double.

Vernon Law, who has had a sore shoulder, made his first start since June 11 in the opener. He gave up three runs on five hits in six innings before being removed for a pinchhitter.

Athletics Snap Losing Streak

Howser's Hit Sinks Twins In Ninth, 8-7

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Dick Howser's ninth inning single scored Gene Stephens from third base Sunday and gave the Kansas City Athletics an 8-7 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Kansas City set up its winning run against reliever Chuck Stobbs when Stephens led off with a sharp single to center field, moved to second on Haywood Sullivan's hit single, and took third on a sacrifice by Wayne Causey.

Pinch-hitter Joe Pignatano was purposely passed to fill the bases and then Howser hit a 2-2 pitch to right field for the winning run.

Stobbs, fifth Minnesota pitcher of the day, suffered his third defeat in four decisions. Ed Rakow, who pitched the final two innings for Kansas City, picked up his first victory against two defeats.

Kansas City exploded for 15 hits in snapping a six-game losing streak.

Harmon Killebrew socked his 24th home run with a mate aboard in the seventh to knot the score at 6-6.

Minnesota's 15 hits were paced by Howser's 11th home run in the eighth, which gave the Athletics a 7-6 lead.

Coleman's 3-Run Homer Wins First Game In 13 Innings

Dodgers Edge Phillies, 2-1

Drysdale Wins Own Game With Homer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pitcher Don Drysdale Sunday hit a home run in the eighth inning and gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Drysdale, getting help from left-hander Ron Perranoski in the 8th inning and Dick Farrell in the ninth, posted his sixth victory of the year and his ninth consecutive victory over the Phillies.

Drysdale and Robin Roberts hooked up in a pitching duel for the first six innings. The Dodgers used singles by Junior Gilliam and Wally Moon and Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly for a run in the fourth.

The Phillies tied it up in the fifth on Charlie Smith's fourth home run of the season.

Roberts injured his right knee sliding into second base attempting to break up a double play in the sixth inning and was relieved by Art Mahaffey.

Coleman was the batting star of the afternoon. He got five hits in six trips to the plate in the first game and went three-for-four in the nightcap.

Purkey's second game victory, with an assist from Bill Henry with two out in the ninth, gave him a 10-4 mark to tie teammate Joey Jay and Los Angeles hurler Sandy Koufax for the most wins in the National League. The loser was rookie Tony Cloninger, who suffered his second defeat against one win.

The four hour 12 minute first game was interrupted in the fourth inning by a wild, fist-swinging battle at third base. The affair started when Mathews charged Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole who had been tagged down on a run-down play between home and third. Mathews was ejected from the game as a result. Three innings later, Reds Manager Fred Hutchinson was thrown out of the game after holly disrupting a play at first base.

Los Angeles Angels pushed over six runs in the first two innings Sunday, three of them on Steve Bilko's homer, and then coasted to an 8-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox despite two home runs by Roy Sievers.

Bilko's three-run homer in the first inning gave the Angels a lead they never relinquished. They added three more runs in the second, two of them unearned, as a result of pitcher Juan Pizarro's throwing error on a flier's choice.

Pizarro, who faced three batters in the second inning without retiring a man, was replaced by Don Larsen and took the loss, his first of the season after four straight wins.

In addition to Sievers' pair of solo homers, his 19th and 20th of the season, outfielder Al Smith hit his 18th homer, Smith's was off starter Johnny James, who jammed his knee sliding into third base in the second inning and was forced to leave the game.

Jim Donohue replaced James and worked five innings in relief to get credit for the win although he gave up the homers to Sievers.

It was his second victory of the season against two losses and during his mound stint he struck out eight men. Art Fowler worked the final two innings to retire the White Sox in order and preserve the five-hit victory.

Chicago's 11 hits were paced by Pearson's 11th home run in the eighth, which gave the White Sox a 7-6 lead.

Maris Wallops Pair In 13 To 4 Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris hit his 29th and 30th home runs, driving in four runs Sunday as the New York Yankees bombed Washington with five home runs for a 13-4 victory.

Mickey Mantle, Moose Skowron and Elston Howard also homered. Maris slammed his first of the day off Pete Burnside, a left-hander, after Bud Daley and Tony Kubek walked in the third.

Johnny Klippstein, a right-hander, was the victim of No. 30 with none on in the seventh.

Howard had opened the Yankee scoring with a two-run homer off Burnside in the second inning after Mantle drew the first of four successive walks.

Mantle hit his 28th homer in the eighth with one on and Skowron blasted a two-run homer into the left field bleachers in the same inning. It was the third time in his career that Skowron had reached those stands, where only 13 homers have been hit since Yankee Stadium was built.

Daley, making his first start at Yankee Stadium since he was acquired from Kansas City during the long road trip, was the winner, although he was relieved by Luis Arroyo in the ninth.

Indians Get Six In 10th To Win, 12-6

Sweep Three Game Series At Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Reserve Chuck Essegian, relief pitcher Frank Funk and Tito Francona drove in two runs apiece in a 10th inning Indian uprising Sunday which capped Cleveland's 12-6 comeback victory over Boston.

Behind by four runs most of the game, the third-place Cleveland club decided the issue in the big extra inning outburst which provided it with a sweep of the three games series.

There were two out in the Cleveland 10th when the Indians struck reliever Arnold Earley with a double and two walks, loading the bases.

Dave Hillman replaced Earley with the count 2-0 on Essegian, but on the second pitch Chuck lined a two-run single to left.

Funk, the winner, who had been hitless in 13 previous at bats, followed with a two-run single and Francona finished it off with a triple.

Barrelville Snaps Frostburg's Winning Streak, 6-2

Exports Win On 3-Hitter By Richards

Moorefield Trims Flintstone, 13-3; Hyndman Is Victor

PEN MAR LEAGUE	W.	L.	Pct.

Flintstone	3	14	.176

GAMES TUESDAY
Hyndman at Moorefield
Salisbury at Frostburg
Mt. Savage at Flintstone
Lonaconing at Barrelville

Barrelville's Old Exports snapped Frostburg's eight-game winning streak yesterday as Dave Richards stopped the Merchants with three hits for a 6-2 triumph in the Pen Mar Baseball League.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed the struggle at Frostburg and saw Barrelville break a 1-1 deadlock with five runs in the fourth inning, then hold on to win its 11th game of the campaign.

The big fourth saw 11 Old Export batters go to the plate, amassing six hits, two walks and an error for the five runs. With Barrelville leading 2-1 and the bases loaded, Pooch Lewis singled to left and when the left fielder misplayed the ball three runs scored. The fifth tally came across on another one-base blow.

Win Second Time
It marked the second time this season Barrelville has whipped the Merchants with Richards going the route for both wins. The Exports won 7-2 on June 4 as Richards whiffed 16 Merchants. The loss was Frostburg's sixth of the campaign. Roger Manges (6-2) was the loser, dropping both decisions to Barrelville and Richards.

Richards struck out six as he chalked up his eighth mound triumph of the year and third in a row since losing to Lonaconing, 4-2, on June 10.

Galen McGregor, Ron Neubiser and Ronnie Cage paced the winners at the plate with two hits apiece. One of Cage's blows was a two-bagger. Fred Schindler had a double for Frostburg while Manges and Clingerman had the other two hits off Richards' slants, both singles.

Yesterday's loss came on the heels of Frostburg's double win over the pace-setting Moorefield nine on Saturday, 7-3 and 8-6, which upped the Merchants' winning streak to eight in a row.

Barrelville's win left the Old Exports one-half game behind Moorefield which bounced back from Saturday's double loss with a 13-3 trouncing of Flintstone's Farmers yesterday at Moorefield. Jim Norris (6-5) was the losing pitcher as Moorefield downed Flintstone for the third time this year. Ernie Nelson picked up his second mound victory for the league-leaders.

Moorefield Slugs Ball
Nelson struck out eight, walked five and hit one batter in going the route with a five-hitter.

Harlan Hott, George Hott and Jim Barr cracked triples to lead the 17-hit assault by Moorefield. Harlan Hott also hit a double and single. George Hott a single. Dave Vance a two-bagger and single. Bob Wilson a double, and Bob Keller two doubles and two singles for the winners.

The win was Moorefield's 12th in 17 decisions while Flintstone is 3-14 for the year.

Hyndman's Merchants remained on the heels of Moorefield and Barrelville by edging Mt. Savage, 5-4, in the 10th inning on Lou Hite's sacrifice fly as Vohn Lehman outduelled lefty Wayne Johnson for his third mound triumph.

It was Hyndman's second triumph in three meetings with Mt. Savage and Johnson suffered his fourth consecutive setback.

Gene Stair opened the bottom of the 10th by reaching first base on an error. He stole second and moved to third on an infield out. Hite's long fly ball to right brought him home with the winning tally.

It was Hyndman's fourth consecutive win since losing to Frostburg, 9-4 and 8-7 on June 18. John Walman and Lehman each cracked out a double and single while Hite had two singles in addition, to his game-winning sacrifice fly. Fay Often had a single and two-bagger and starred at shortstop for Mt. Savage. Wayne Johnson also chipped in with a double and single for the losers.

Keister Wins Fifth
John Keister pitched a six-hitter for his fifth win in nine decisions yesterday as Salisbury defeated the Coney Carlings at Lonaconing, 7-2.

It marked the second win of the Cardinals in three meetings with Lonaconing.

Carl Donald went down to defeat for the first time for the Cardinals after pitching four straight victories.

John Keister also was the big gun at the plate for Salisbury, garnering a double and three singles with three RBIs for the Cardinals. Robert Keister collected three hits and Jim Brown had a triple and double for the winners.

Bobby Wilson And McKinley To Meet Today

Two Americans Left In Wimbledon Event

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Karen Hanitz moved Sunday into the second week of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships—the only U.S. players to keep alive America's lean prospects for a singles title alive.

McKinley, from St. Ann, Mo., is booked for a tough fight against Britain's Bobby Wilson, who put out the defending champion Neale Fraser on Saturday. Miss Hanitz, from Chula Vista, Calif., has what appears an easier assignment against South Africa's Renee Schuurman and should make the semifinals.

McKinley, 20, has been playing through this tournament, with plenty in reserve but his match against Wilson should call for everything he has.

"I feel in great shape after the first week at Wimbledon," McKinley said. "But I'll have to serve better if I'm going to beat Wilson in the quarter-finals."

"I suppose I've been fortunate so far in not having any really tough matches—but the time will come."

McKinley, a likeable youngster who says he is "always nervous before a big game," recalled that Wilson won on the only previous occasion they met. "He's a fine player and I think we'll have a great match."

Wilson's upset of Fraser has oddly not made him an all-out favorite for the title. Fraser has had an up-and-down season and was troubled right up and into Wimbledon by an injured left knee. Wilson defeated the defending champion 1-6, 6-0, 13-11, 9-7 and Fraser accepted defeat almost as if it were inevitable.

The Australian champion, Roy Emerson, and his fellow countryman Rod Laver, seeded fourth and second here, are the favorites for the title.

Ike Love, slugging outfielder who is leading the league with a .450 batting average. Love pulled a thigh muscle running out a grounder in the eighth inning of yesterday's game and may be lost to the team for several weeks.

Other Saturday results besides the Frostburg-Moorefield double-header found Barrelville defeating Flintstone, 7-3; Hyndman downing Salisbury, 4-2; and Lonaconing belting Mt. Savage, 9-2. The results of yesterday's games:

Decathlon Title Won By Herman

West Coast Stars Finish One-Two

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Two West Coast athletes captured the top spots in the National AAU Decathlon Championships here Saturday in a dramatic finish.

Paul Herman, 20, from Westmont, College, Calif., ran a sparkling 4:40.3 clocking in the 1,500-meter run and gathered 410 points and captured the title with 7,142 points.

David Edstrom, a veteran decathlon performer from the Emerald Empire Athletic Association in Oregon, amassed 310 points in the final event for a total of 7,048 points and second place.

A world decathlon pole vault record was established and tied in what was by far the outstanding event of the two-day meet. Don Bragg, world champion pole vaulter, set the decathlon record of 15 feet 1 1/2 inches. Minutes later, J.D. Martin of the University of Oklahoma matched Bragg's outstanding performance.

The record by Bragg and Martin bettered the 15 foot 1/2 inch decathlon mark by Bob Richards, set in 1956.

Paul Herman and Edstrom won the decathlon spots on the national AAU team that will tour Europe and Russia this month.

Top Contenders Score In West Virginia Golf

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (UPI)—The top three contenders in the West Virginia Women's Amateur golf tournament—Nancy Stump, Sally Carroll and Berri Long—all breezed to first round wins on the sun-bathed Greenbrier links here Sunday.

Mrs. Stump of Wheeling, the 1950 and 1957 champion, had an easy time disposing of Mrs. D. C. Hinchman of Huntington, 6-5. Mrs. Stump was medalist on the qualifying round Saturday when she shot a three-under-women's par 72.

Miss Long of Huntington, a six-time winner turned up for the quarter-finals by drubbing Mrs. V. Meador, Charleston, 8-6. Miss Carroll of Wheeling defeated Mrs. John McCuskey, Clarksburg, 6-5. Pairings for Monday's quarter-final round:

Mrs. Stump vs. Miss Kinney; Miss Long vs. Miss Summers; Miss Carroll vs. Mrs. Bennedett and Mrs. Carpenter vs. Mrs. Campbell.

The semifinals will be held on Tuesday, the 4th of July and the finals on Wednesday.

Campbell Leads State Qualifiers

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Big Bill Campbell steamed in with a 69 Sunday to lead the way in qualifying play for the 42nd State Men's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Right behind the Huntington insurance man with even par 70s were defending champion Ed Tutwiler Jr. of Charleston and Marshall Hawkins of Huntington.

Bracketed with 71s were Dave Clovis, Clarksburg lawyer, and Lou Cuffaro, former West Virginia University football player.

Bob Teyro of Huntington was next at 72. Coming in with 73s were Clarksburg sportscaster Jay Randolph and Bob King, 21-year-old captain of the WVU golf team and the stepson of Bus Gregory, one of the Greenbrier's caddy masters.

Floyd Patterson, the heavy king now, received $75 for his first fight in 1952.

Gratton's 69 Ties Course Record In 18-Point Triumph

Capturing 13 out of 19 holes, the men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club defeated the Maplehurst Country Club yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 37 1/2 to 19 1/2 points and extended its three-year winning streak to 15 matches.

Maplehurst copped five four-somes and halved another.

The victory was the ninth straight for the CCC over its Frostburg rival in five years.

Cumberland won eight of the four-somes by 3-0 scores while Maplehurst posted two 3-0 wins.

Gratton Ties Record
Joe Gratton, member of the Cumberland team, tied the Maplehurst course record with a three-under-par 69. He equalled the mark set several years ago by Charley Miller of Maplehurst.

In a blind bogey event held in connection with the match the winners were James S. Getty and Walter Eyer of Maplehurst and Dave Klein, Robert Wilkins, John Moberly and George Bottorf of Cumberland.

Jim Goebel was closest the flag on No. 4 and Jake Michaels on No. 7.

Home Next Sunday
The CCC team puts a 61-match winning streak on the line next Sunday when it plays its first contest of the season at home with the Preston Country Club of Kingwood. The locals are undefeated at home since the 1946 season.

Yesterday's win gave the Country Club team its third straight win of the campaign away from home. Martinsburg and Fountain Head of Hagerstown were the victims before Maplehurst.

Summary of yesterday's matches:

Charley Miller and Jim Donahue, Maplehurst, defeated Clifton Van Roby and Orville W. Jackson, 2-1.

Steve Johnson and Royce Hodges, Cumberland, defeated Harry Deahl and Francis Cook, 3-0.

Little Moes Down Westernport, 13-5
Frostburg's Little Moes defeated Westernport, 13-5, yesterday in a Bi-State Pony League contest at Westernport for their second victory in as many days. The win was the fourth in nine decisions this year for the Frostburg nine.

The Little Moes, fresh from Saturday's 6-3 win over previously unbeaten Mt. Savage, scored in all but two innings with a 15-hit attack against two Westernport hurlers.

Robertson and Wilson led the assault with seven hits between them, the latter belting a home run, double and two singles and Robertson three singles.

Vern Miller had three hits for Westernport and teammate Billy Dettmerman had a homer and double in a losing cause.

Saturday, Westernport bowed to Barton, 8-7, in another Bi-State game and now sports a 1-6 record for the year. The results:

Frostburg 171 Moes 202 243 6-13 15 5
Westernport 000 010 4-5 9 3
Spriggs and Shaner, Butch Green, Glen Miller (3) and Ricky Lough (LP).

GAMES TUESDAY
2:30—All Star game at Loch Lynn

White Rock divided a double-header with league-leading Mt. Storm yesterday in the Town and Country Softball League, winning the second game, 4-0, behind Mervin Slagle's five-hit pitching after dropping the opener to Bob Foster on a three-hitter, 6-1.

Foster's triumph was his seventh mound victory as he defeated Dan Slagle for Mt. Storm's 12th win of the campaign and eighth in a row. A pair of three-run innings in the first and third gave the league-leaders the win in the first game.

The second contest was a battle of undefeated hurlers as Mervin Slagle notched his sixth straight win for White Rock. Suffering his first defeat was Mt. Storm's Ronald Mills who had won five in a row. The loss snapped Mt. Storm's win skein at eight.

The split left White Rock in third place in the league standings with a 9-5 record. Mt. Storm is 12-2 for the year.

McHenry picked up some ground on the league-leaders, winning a pair from Swallow Falls, 17-9 and 9-5, on the latter's diamond. The two wins gave the second place McHenry tossers an 11-5 record.

George Stewart won his sixth contest although touched for 15 hits by Swallow Falls in the first game. Homers by Steve Sines of Swallow Falls and Ken Savage of McHenry highlighted the slugfest.

Savage homered again in the second game as McHenry won behind Reckner's five-hit twirling. Ream lost his fourth game for Swallow Falls as McHenry broke the game open with six runs in the sixth inning.

Oakland won a pair from Accident, 9-6 and 6-2 to remain tied with Loch Lynn for fourth place. Wolf notched his fifth victory in the nightcap with a six-hitter after Kight won the opener when Oakland rallied from a 5-0 first inning deficit.

Loch Lynn handed the hapless National Guard team its 14th and 15th defeats of the season with a pair of setbacks at Oakland, 11-2 and 11-7.

Junior Paugh was the winning hurler in both games, hiking his record to 7-2 for the year. He twirled a three-hitter in the opener then was relieved in the second game after five innings, leading 11-2. Frank Collins finished up for the victors.

League officials announced yesterday that the league's all-star game will be played on July 4 at 2:30 p.m. at Loch Lynn. Players from Mt. Storm, Oakland, Loch Lynn and Swallow Falls will oppose members of the White Rock, National Guard, McHenry and Accident teams.

Mickey Wright Cops Open Title 3d Time

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Mary Kathryn (Mickey) Wright, a tall, blonde belter from San Diego, Calif., is the Women's Open Golf champion of the United States for the third time in four years and probably the best woman golfer in the world.

Miss Wright's performance with scores of 72-80-69-72—293 for four rounds over the long, heat-drenched Baltusrol Course, was one of the finest ever turned in by a woman golfer, pro or amateur.

Mickey was the only player to break the par of 36-36—72 during the tournament over the 6,372-yard course. Only one other, Joann Prentice, equalled it.

Thailand Feather Scores Knockout

TOKYO (AP)—Thailand's No. 2 featherweight, Veeranid Chareonmuang, scored a seventh round technical knockout over Japan's Kazuyoshi Amada in a scheduled 10-round non-title bout Sunday night.

The hard-hitting Thaiander floored the Japanese in the first, third, fourth and sixth rounds before he won his fourth straight bout in Japan.

Westernport Rations Water In One Section

Supply Lines Too Small To Service Greene's Addition

WESTERNPORT — Due to the critical situation of water in the Greene's Addition area of the town, all residents are requested not to use their hose for watering their gardens or lawns and the washing of automobiles is also prohibited, Robert Kalbaugh, water commissioner, states.

The residents of Baughman and Roosevelt Street and part of Greene Street have very little water.

The storage tank located adjoining Bruce High School is empty according to Kalbaugh. The tank when full holds 64 feet of water but it has been some time since it had over 18 feet of water in it.

The problem seems to be getting sufficient amount of water to that area, as the reservoir located on Chestnut Street on the other side of the town is full.

Workmen of the town are constructing a six-inch water service line from Main Street to Philos Avenue. It is expected the work will be completed in about two weeks and that should greatly help the situation.

Laying Cornerstone

Laying of the cornerstone at the new Presbyterian Church in Keyser took place Saturday afternoon. Shown above is Past Grand Master of the Masonic Lodge Gilbert E. Griffin of Charleston being assisted by an unidentified visiting Mason.

Presbyterians At Keyser Lay Cornerstone For New Church On So. Mineral St.

KEYSER—Special ceremonies marking the laying of the cornerstone for the new Keyser Presbyterian Church were held Saturday afternoon at the site on South Mineral Street.

Joining church and civic officials for the occasion were members of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of the state of West Virginia, who marched from downtown Keyser to the new church in a procession led by the Keyser High School Band. Julian B. Hollingsworth, Charleston, served as grand master.

Dr. John D. MacLeod Jr., pastor, presided at the program and introduced Dr. Ernest E. Church, Acacia Lodge, chairman of the church planning committee, who delivered the oration.

In his talk Dr. Church pointed out that "this is an auspicious occasion . . . the cornerstone laying has been performed in conformity with the old customs of the Masonic fraternity—invocation to Almighty God, testing of the cornerstone by the proper implements of Masonry and consecrating with the emblems of plenty, joy, gladness, and peace."

He explained that the various concepts of God "can be acquired and held only by free men in a free society; only by men who believe in the fatherhood of God and the dignity and brotherhood of man . . . Free men, of good will, will always keep God as the center of their universe, squaring their actions by the rule of virtue, meeting their fellowmen upon the level, and keeping their lives plumb by moral and spiritual rectitude."

"But satanic forces are loose in the world—godless, without conscience, powerful and drunk with power. Their creed is the absolute antithesis of everything for which the church of the living God and Ancient Free and Accepted Masonry stand . . . Seekers after truth must guard themselves and be in the vanguard in the battle with this evil that denies God and despises all good men."

"In the never ending search for truth—for a clearer understanding of God—men have sought for ways in which they could honor God. They have raised an obelisk, built tabernacles, shrines, temples, cathedrals and churches. Architects, painters, sculptors and craftsmen have vied in producing noble and yet more noble places of worship. Around the world these stand as silent witnesses to man's faith in his creator; but they were conceived and built because men have increasingly understood that the real shrine where God may be found is in the human heart."

Dr. Church ended his address with the plea: "May its pulpit ever be one from which truth is proclaimed and error exposed; may its portals ever provide a friendly welcome to all wayfarers who seek a closer walk with God, and may all who worship here unite in saying, 'Surely, God is in this place.'"

C. Neff Wimer, who was in charge of preparing items for deposit in the cornerstone, said it contains: a bound history of the Presbyterian Church from 1853-1922; a history compiled by Donald C. Hott from 1953-61; a history of the women of the church from 1952-53 compiled by Mrs. K. S. McKee, active membership of the church as of July 1, membership in the nursery, kindergarten, primary, and junior departments; church directory listing officers for the current year.

The following programs: centennial celebration, 1853-1953; ground-breaking ceremony, cornerstone laying ceremony, and various church bulletins. The following congregational minutes: November 14, 1954, to promote spiritual and financial campaign; November 6, 1955, execute a note for purchase of this site for the new church on the Wolf property; February 12, 1961, acceptance of low bid from Thornton Construction Company; and minutes of the planning committee for February 20, March 6, March 13, and March 27, 1955.

The cornerstone also contains a list of memorials in the old church at the corner of Main and West Piedmont Streets, book of church order, brief statement of beliefs, photographs of Dr. John D. MacLeod and family, architect's view of the structure, signing of the contract, ground breaking ceremony; Presbyterian minutes for January 17, 1961; report of the Synod of Virginia 1961; Massanetta Springs campaign for expansion and improvement; a list of members of the Grand Lodge officially taking part in the dedication, current membership of Davis Lodge No. 51, officers of the Lodge for 1961-62, a copy of the oration by Dr. E. E. Church, a complete set of 1961 coins from the Philadelphia mint, a 1961 penny by Hugh Giffin, the architect; and several area newspapers.

Masonic officials from throughout the state as well as those from Davis Lodge, Keyser, took part. Others witnessing the ceremony were Hugh Giffin, Rosemont, Pa., architect; Leon Green, New Market, Va., the Thornton Construction Co., and Donald C. Hott, chairman of the construction contract committee.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new church, which is adjacent to the former W. W. Wolfe home on the corner of South Mineral and State Street. The latter will be used as a Sunday School building for the church.

FROSTBURG ASSEMBLY OF GOD
MAPLE & STOVER FROSTBURG

25 Area People Home From N.Y. Religious Rally

LONACONING — Twenty-five delegates from this locality have returned from a New York City where they attended the "United Worshipers" district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, Marshall Morton, of Midland, presiding minister of the congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, reported.

Approximately 93,000 were present at the main session on Sunday to hear the public address by Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, on the subject, "When All Nations Unite Under God's Kingdom."

The group enjoyed a pleasant visit. New York's usually hot weather was broken by timely showers, making the session quite comfortable in Yankee Stadium, scene of the six-day gathering.

Outstanding events of the convention were the baptism of 1,732 new ministers at a New York beach, and the release of a one volume edition of the New World Translation of the Holy Scriptures. It is a modern-language translation from the original Bible tongues. More than 12 years were required to complete the work.

Many family groups attended the assembly, Mr. Morton stated. He said the program especially stressed the educational aspects of the work of Jehovah's Witnesses. It highlighted the importance of family Bible study and prayer as well as united family attendance at religious meetings. This was pointed out as the most effective deterrent to juvenile delinquency.

The local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses meets in Kingdom Hall, Rockville, Lonaconing.

Vacation School Is Concluded

MT. SAVAGE—Vacation School of St. George's Episcopal Church has ended. The Kindergarten teachers included, Mrs. Shannon Wright, Mrs. Charles Foy and Virginia Foy, Beginners, Mrs. Francis Bennett; Primary, Mrs. Harry Long and Mrs. James D. Smith; Juniors, Mrs. Louis Arnold and Mrs. Wilson Sweeney.

Refreshments were prepared daily by Stanley Turley and the organist was Miss Margaret Uhl. Extra crafts were prepared for the school by Dick Arnold and Harry Long.

The presentation of certificates and awards will follow the pageant of The Council of Nicea, presented this Sunday.

The Bishop's visitation to St. George's Church is scheduled for July 23 at 10:45 a. m. Bishop Powell will make his annual visitation and also confirm a class of candidates.

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass Pass Pass 1 ♥
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT
Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Two no trump. While we prefer, wherever possible, to take the pressure off partner, we have not sufficient values in this case to do so, having only 11 points in high cards. The singleton heart is also a heart influence. If partner does not go on to three, the play for game should not be very good.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ K J 6 2 ♥ J 7 5 ♦ A Q 9 4 ♣ 6 4 1
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Four diamonds. A strong bid is in order. Partner's two heart bid constitutes a so-called "reverse" and should be based on at least 19 points. Your hand is worth 12 points in support of diamonds. A slam is, therefore, not remote and it is recommended that the display of strength be made below the game level.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ K 8 4 3 ♥ 5 4 ♦ 10 5 4 ♣ K 10 5 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Four spades. While this hand contains the minimum in high cards you should carry on, though partner's raise is not forcing. The club fit is the determining factor. Reverse the hearts and clubs and a doubtful situation would exist.

Q. 5—Opponents have 60 part score and as South you hold:
♠ K 7 5 3 ♥ 6 2 ♦ A 9 3 ♣ 10 5 2
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 NT Pass 1 NT Pass
What do you bid now?
A—Two spades. Under normal conditions, bidding more than six points, you should pass the no trump bid for penalties, but in this particular case it may be a little more cautious. Since one no trump puts the enemy "out," partner may have stretched a point to double in order to put up some sort of fight. You should, therefore, keep your powder dry by bidding two spades.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ 6 2 ♥ A K 10 9 8 ♦ 7 5 3 ♣ K 9 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
1 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Partner has announced a strong hand by making a true rebid of one no trump after the adverse spade bid. The suggested call is a raise of the no trump. With a timid partner perhaps to three no trump, with most partners a raise to two no trump would suffice.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ 8 ♥ Q J 8 6 ♦ A 9 7 4 3 ♣ K 10 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass
2 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A—Three hearts. This hand has splendid distributional values, and if a good suit fit can be found a slam is not at all remote. Partner's jump to two no trump does not deny possession of a four card heart suit and the temporary bid is strongly recommended.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ A 8 4 ♥ A K 8 3 ♦ A J 7 ♣ Q J 8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 NT Pass 3 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
A—Three hearts. The four card major which you suppressed on the first round should be announced at this point. This is preferable to showing the diamond support. If the bidding progresses constructively, diamond support may be shown belatedly.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — Question: What's a cosmetic?

Answer: It's an article, including components of the article, intended to be rubbed, poured, sprinkled or sprayed on, introduced into, or otherwise applied to the human body or any part thereof for cleansing, beautifying, promoting attractiveness or altering the appearance.

That official definition of what women pat, smear, spray and rub on the complexion was cited the other day by Dr. Robert G. Carney in a discussion about aging skin — wrinkles and such.

Dr. Carney, of the University of Iowa, said the definition of cosmetics, as per the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, does not include soap, even though it cleanses the body.

But, he indicated in a report to the American Medical Association, that it includes practically everything else — even malarky.

The dermatologist described as witchcraft in cosmetics such things as animal and fish extracts, turtle oil and jelly products sold with the promise of helping the skin to turn back the hands of time.

He said the only persons who benefit from many of these products are those who manufacture and sell them. The benefits are in the cash register.

Dr. Carney said prevention is the best approach to problems of the aging skin.

"Sunscreens — cosmetics which filter out some of the more harmful wavelengths of light — may aid in preventing acute and chronic overexposure to the sun's rays," he said.

Dr. Carney also suggested that older folks ought not to use soaps and detergents as frequently as they did when young.

"Diminution in the use of soaps and detergents in the older person, particularly in cold, dry weather, may also help to diminish or slow the aging process," he said.

Aging of the skin is attended by thinking, atrophy and increasing dryness. In this way, wrinkles develop and the skin eventually droops.

Dr. Carney said water-in-oil emulsions — cold creams — or oil-in-water emulsions — vanishing creams — may relieve dryness and scalliness in older skins.

But he said oils which mix with water are of "little help" since simple greasing of the skin does not soften it, while wetting it does.

Wrinkle creams also appear to be "quite useless," he said.

"It seems unlikely that any topically applied material will stop or reverse the dermal changes taking place well below the surface which are responsible for wrinkling and sagging," he said.

The effectiveness of freckle creams also is open to question, according to the expert.

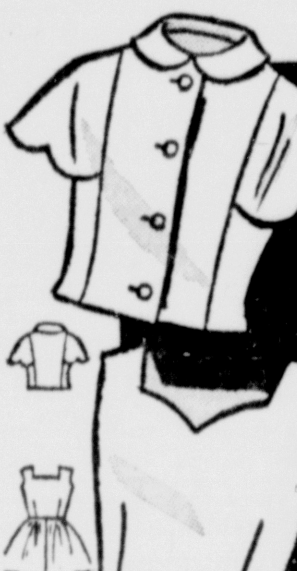

He also said there is no proof hormone creams have any beneficial effect other than softening and soothing the skin.

"Nothing yet discovered," he said, "will restore lost youth."

Book matches got their start as an advertising medium in 1890s when a large brewery ordered 10 million to promote its beer. The match company's capacity was only 2,000 per day and machinery had to be invented to fill the order.

Maryland Plans 'Halfway Houses'
BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland welfare authorities are planning the establishment of "halfway houses" to help girls released from training schools who have inadequate homes to which to return.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, state welfare director, said Saturday there is a serious problem for many girls released from training schools, particularly Negroes, in finding foster homes.

Waxter said the Montrose School for Girls is holding some girls longer than was desirable rather than release them without adequate supervision.

Waxter said several conferences have been held with local welfare officials with a view to setting up the "halfway houses" for delinquent girls. Under the plan, each house would be supervised by a resident man and wife, and the girls would live in the homes while working in the communities near by.

Ground Broken For Airport In Garrett County

Contractor Begins Work This Week

A Sunday afternoon crowd of several hundred people witnessed ground-breaking ceremonies yesterday at the new Garrett County Airport, located at McHenry on the White Face Farm 12 miles north of Oakland and near Deep Creek Lake.

Carl D. Schell of Kitzmiller, president of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, assisted by Andrew Huebeck, Baltimore, secretary to the Board of Public Works, turned the first shovel of earth to mark beginning of construction. This is Garrett County's first airport project.

Hastily arranged, the program attracted more interest than any public project in the county for a long time. The county commissioners received word from the Federal Aviation Administration last Wednesday to order the contractor to proceed, as all plans, financing and contracts had been approved. The project is jointly financed by the county, state and federal governments.

Hazelwood To Start

The contractor, George F. Hazelwood Company of Cumberland, was the successful bidder on the job, to cost $246,003. Hazelwood expects to move equipment into the site today and to start construction this week. The project includes, among other airport facilities, a blacktop runway 2,500 feet long.

Yesterday's ceremony was highlighted, just before program starting time at 2 p. m., by the appearance over the mountain area of the Maryland State Police helicopter, piloted by Cpl. W. A. Jennings, and carrying Rudolph A. Drennan, director of the State Aviation Commission and Mr. Huebeck. The copter landed on the site of the new port.

Mr. Drennan served as master of ceremonies at the ground-breaking, and also spoke on the progress of aviation and the importance of an airport in mountainous Garrett County, not only as a safety measure but as an addition to the economy of the area. In such a beautiful vacation territory, he said, the port will provide a new facility for transportation, private and public, for many visitors to the county.

State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, who worked with state officials to help obtain funds for the port here, and Delegate Elbert Buckle, who also helped sponsor the necessary legislation, were on the program for brief talks. The County Commissioners, Mr. Schell, Edward Glatfely and Elira Garietis were also participants, along with members of the Economic Development Commission of Garrett County.

Many Visitors Attend

Other visitors and guests included area residents, many vacationers and guests from the lake area, officials from several towns in Garrett County, members of the board of governors of the Garrett Memorial Hospital, and Charles White, former owner of the farm where the port is being built.

Mr. Schell said, "Considering the short time we had to make arrangements, and since we did not have time to mail invitations, we were genuinely pleased and surprised at the interest and the large attendance." He said it is hoped that the entire project can be completed before cold weather. If so, a formal opening and dedication will be held. At that time, a fly-in by planes from various places will be proposed, along with other festivities to mark the occasion, he said.

Stores To Remain Open Here Tonight

Retail stores in Cumberland will observe the usual Monday shopping hours tonight by remaining open until 9 o'clock.

Most stores will be closed tomorrow to mark the Independence Day holiday.

Usual business hours will be resumed on Wednesday and regular night shopping hours will be observed Thursday night.

Spanish-American War Veteran Hit By Train

WEST UNION, W.Va. (UPI) — Neal Collins, 81, died Saturday of injuries received when he was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio freight train near the West Union city limits.

Authorities said Collins, a Spanish-American War veteran, was standing on the railroad tracks and apparently did not see or hear the train as it emerged from a nearby tunnel.

Presumed Drowned

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP) — A Coast Guard helicopter joined dragging operations Sunday in an effort to locate the body of a man presumed drowned off Tangier Island, Va., about 12 miles west of here.

A witness told Virginia State Police the victim fell from his outboard motor boat into seven feet of water in the Chesapeake Bay. His identity was not immediately determined.

Rotary Will Not Meet

The Rotary Club will not meet this week. The next regular meeting will be held July 11, at YMCA.

Carl Schell, right, president of the Garrett County Commissioners, and Andrew Huebeck Jr., center of the Board of Public Works of Maryland, seem to be having a little trouble breaking ground for the new Garrett County airport north of Oakland in ceremonies held yesterday afternoon. Supervising, at left, is Rudolph A. Drennan, state aviation commissioner.

Airport Groundbreaking

Disabled Vets Should Check Status With VA

Generally speaking, veterans who have no wartime service are not eligible for treatment in Veterans Administration hospitals.

However, this does not apply universally since some veterans may be able to qualify, according to Sam Weston, local VA officer.

To be eligible for this benefit, the peacetime veteran must have been discharged for a disability actually incurred in or aggravated by his period of service, or he must be receiving compensation for a service-connected disability, or he must be eligible to receive compensation except for the fact that he is receiving retired pay from the service.

Veterans disabled in peacetime service should not consider themselves automatically service-connected for their disabilities and, on that assumption, except the prompt action from VA that is afforded to veterans with established service-connected disabilities.

Mr. Weston said VA has no knowledge of a veteran's disabilities, service-connected or not, until he submits a claim. Therefore, to establish his right to prompt hospitalization or to outpatient treatment, every veteran with a disability he believes to have been incurred in service should file a claim with the VA as soon as he is discharged. This should be done even though he does not intend to accept VA compensation.

Veterans who are discharged with minor disabilities for which disability severance pay is awarded should file promptly for VA compensation. VA cannot pay compensation to these persons until the total of the compensation which would have been payable over the months equals the amount of severance pay. Any delay in making a claim would only delay the payment of compensation should the claim be approved, Mr. Weston said.

Eligible peacetime veterans are admitted to hospital treatment on a priority basis, the same as wartime veterans. Emergency conditions get top consideration.

Further information concerning veterans may be obtained from Mr. Weston at the local VA office, Room 308, Post Office Building.

Meeting Date Changed

The Ridgeley Band Parents Association will meet July 18 instead of July as previously announced. One student has been measured for a uniform and it will be shown at this meeting for the association's approval.

Track Cleared After Wreck

Western Maryland Railway traffic returned to normal here last night after wreck crews from Cumberland and Bowest opened one of two tracks blocked by a derailment shortly afternoon Saturday.

Both tracks were closed after 26 cars of a Connellsville-bound freight train carrying 56 loaded cars and 70 empties left the tracks about six miles east of Bowest at Indian Creek, Pa.

C. D. Currence, city, was the conductor, and R. G. Curry, also of Cumberland, the engineer of the train. There were no injuries and the causes had not been determined.

Railway officials here said the track was cleared about 6 p. m. yesterday and that trains had been routed back to the normal pattern several hours before. Traffic had been routed over B&O tracks after the wreck occurred.

Zirk To Face Jury Again On Murder Charge

Man Is Acquitted On Conspiracy Count

For the third time, an Old Fields, W. Va., man will be brought before the Hardy County Circuit Court in Moorefield July 17 in connection with the death of a Virginia salesman there last July 14.

He is Wilson C. Zirk, 42, who will go on trial on the original charge of murdering Eldridge Lee Ritter, 33, of Stephens City, following a drinking party in Moorefield.

The trial was set in Moorefield Saturday after a Hardy County Circuit Court jury, after lengthy deliberations, found Zirk not guilty on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder.

His first trial on the murder charge was held last December and resulted in a hung jury.

He and four other men were indicted jointly last December on a conspiracy to commit murder charge. The lengthy indictment included charges that they had conspired to abandon Ritter while he was wounded, and of agreeing not to divulge information about the crime.

One of the men, John Rexroad, last week was found guilty of the conspiracy charge. The operator of a filling station and welding shop in Moorefield where the alleged drinking party occurred is free on bond and awaiting sentencing.

Hardy County officials said the trials of three other men indicted on the conspiracy charge will be held following Zirk's third appearance in court. They are Paige Weese, Nolan Shreve and Junior B. Miley.

Bike License Program Will Start Today

A new program for inspection and licensing of bicycles gets under way today at city-supervised playgrounds. Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said parents should assume responsibility for seeing that their children obtain licenses at the designated playgrounds. The program is being held by the Cumberland Police Department in cooperation with the City Recreation Department.

Today, licenses will be issued at Ridgedale Playground from 10 a.m. until noon, and at Penn Avenue from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.; Wednesday at Johnson Heights from 6:30 p.m. until 8 p.m.; Thursday at West Side 10 a.m. until noon and North End 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.; Friday, Gephart 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and Ft. Cumberland 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Chief Gaffney said it is the aim of the department to keep children and their bicycles out of downtown traffic. No licenses will be issued at Police Headquarters until after July 21.

Rattlesnake Killed By Cresaptown Man

O. J. Riley, Brant Road, Cresaptown, killed a diamond-back rattlesnake about 30 feet from his home yesterday afternoon.

He said it was the first of its kind, so far as he knew, to be killed in that area. The snake was about three feet long and had 10 rattles.

Grass Fire Quenched

South End Fire Department quenched a grass fire along the B&O tracks behind Lexington Avenue early yesterday afternoon.

FHA Girls, Advisors Will Attend National Meeting

Two area members of Future Homemakers of America and their advisors will attend the national meeting of FHA this week in St. Louis, Mo.

Representing Region A will be Virginia Heavner, fifth vice president, and Miss Joanne Sterbutzel, advisor, Flintstone Chapter, and Andrea Bowden, alternate to state secretary, and Mrs. JoAnn Dawson, advisor, Valley Junior Chapter.

Approximately 900 FHA youth delegates and 250 adult advisors from all states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are expected to attend the national meeting.

The theme will be "Youth Measure Your Values" and the four-day program will develop around four objectives: to explore what we mean by values; to understand where and how we get our values; to realize how values influence our decisions and to stimulate further thinking about values.

On Wednesday, an election of 1961-62 national officers will be conducted.

Planned entertainment will include a tour of St. Louis and attendance at Municipal Opera.

Future Homemakers of America is a national, non-profit youth organization co-sponsored by the Home Economics Education Branch of the U. S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association. It was organized in 1945.

Sears Store To Highlight New Center

The Cumberland Shopping Center, projected in the LaVale area, will have as its focal point, a modern, many-department Sears Roebuck Company store which will represent an investment of several million dollars, plus some 10 or more other specialty shops and service centers of various kinds.

Samuel Moses, manager of the Baltimore Street store for Sears, said the move to the Cumberland Shopping Center will represent a four-fold expansion over the space in the present establishment. The clerk force will be tripled and all types of department store merchandise will be stocked.

The new shopping center is also expected to house at least three national firms new to this area, according to Robert L. Hennings, representative of the Builders and Developers Corporation of Washington, which will construct the facility.

A new idea is to be tested by the firm, which has broad experience in shopping centers, Mr. Hennings noted. Thirty-nine separate store units will be housed in the center and each unit will have an exclusive line or operate in that capacity in its price range.

Work is expected to start this summer on the new development, which will be located on Winchester Road between U.S. Route 40 and Vocke Road. The Sears store will be the largest unit in the development and one of the largest retail outlets in the area.

San Francisco Mayor Thanks Keech

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has received a letter from San Francisco Mayor George Christopher thanking him for a gift of champagne glassware. Mayor Keech presented the San Francisco mayor with the glassware, a product of Cumberland Glass Company, through the Wine Institute which conducted a California Spring Wine Festival here recently.

In his letter Mayor Christopher said, "This beautiful glassware will be put to use in the mayor's office on many occasions."

Mathias-Long Battle Takes New Twist

BALTIMORE (AP) — Another round in the current battle of words between Maryland's Democratic and Republican leaders occurred over the weekend.

The latest issue is a comparison of the relative merits of the McKeldin and the Tawes administrations. The oratorical competitors are Dr. Clarence D. Long, executive co-chairman of the Maryland Democratic State Central Committee, and Dr. William B. Prendergast, director of research for the Republican National Committee.

Long said Friday that former Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin merely cut ribbons on highways planned by his Democratic predecessor.

Prendergast replied Saturday by saying that the state's 12-year program of highway expansion was, in fact, the product of Republican efforts.

"It is Gov. Tawes who is going about the state cutting Republican ribbons," Prendergast charged. He also contested Long's claim that the incumbent administration had brought about a reduction in Maryland's highway death toll. Prendergast attributed the reduction to last winter's bad weather.

The verbal exchanges began last week, when Long attacked Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., for having voted against President Kennedy's housing program.

Runyon Fund Joins CUF

The County United Fund has accepted the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research as a member agency, according to an announcement by William E. Crooks, Amcelle plant manager of Celanese Fibers Company and president of CUF.

The memorial fund applied for membership in April and a contract was signed last week with the guarantee that "100 cents of every dollar allocated to the fund will go directly into the fight against cancer."

Damon Runyon, a colorful and beloved American writer, died of cancer December 10, 1946. The memorial fund established in his name has received more than $14,000,000, all of it going into research.

Of interest to United givers of this area is the fact that the fund has made grants totaling $240,548.70 in Maryland and West Virginia.

The CUF allocations committee will recommend an award to the Runyon Fund following its budget hearings early next month. Admission of the fund brings to 30 the number of federated agencies in CUF.

Accepts Position

Miss Julianne Kelly, a former resident, has been named to the staff of WBAL-TV in Baltimore. She made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kelly Sr., at 727 Maryland Avenue, while attending St. Mary's and Fort Hill high schools here before going to the University of Maryland.

Baltimore Man Killed As Car Leaves Highway

Thomas Gates Dies Of Fractured Skull

A 23-year-old Baltimore man was killed early yesterday morning when the car he was driving crashed on U.S. Route 220 near Cresaptown.

The Allegany County fatality was one of five traffic deaths reported in Maryland during the first half of the long Independence Day holiday.

Killed was Thomas Jefferson Gates Jr., 23, of 2510 Maryland Avenue, Baltimore.

Trooper D. J. Kerr, who investigated for Maryland State Police, said the Baltimore man was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital here early yesterday morning.

Skull Is Fractured

State Police said an autopsy report indicated Mr. Gates died of a fractured skull.

They said the man apparently fell asleep as he attempted to make a left hand curve on Route 220, about six miles south of Cresaptown, at 6:45 a.m. yesterday. He was killed as the car ran off the road and into a ditch, striking a metal culvert.

Traffic on area highways was still heavy yesterday but was beginning to fall off as more and more holiday drivers reached their destinations.

Highway patrols in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, however, were fully manned and crews were patrolling roads constantly in an attempt to reduce the accident toll.

Undergo Treatment

Two of four persons injured in an accident which resulted in the death of a Frostburg woman May 18 are still undergoing treatment in area hospitals.

Richard Daniel Abe, 24, of 252 Elder Street, driver of one of two cars which crashed head-on on Route 40 near Eckhart, is reported in good condition in Sacred Heart Hospital here.

Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, 48, Frostburg, a passenger in the other car, is still a patient in Miners Hospital. She is reported in satisfactory condition but is not expected to be able to go home for several weeks.

Tfc. Joseph V. Stakem identified Abe as the driver of one car and Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, 22, Frostburg, as driver of the other car.

Mrs. Myrtle Pfaff, 47, Frostburg, was killed in the accident. James S. Getty, state's attorney, said charges against Abe are pending his release from the hospital.

Road Contract Is Awarded

A contract for the third major project on Route 40 in Allegany County has been awarded, according to an announcement by John B. Funk, chairman-director of the State Roads Commission.

The successful contractor, S. J. Groves and Sons Company of Camp Hill, Pa., and Minneapolis, Minn., submitted a bid of $963,959.90 for grading, drainage and surfacing of relocated Route 40 from the top of Polish Mountain eastward to Fifteen Mile Creek, a distance of 3.4 miles.

This same firm is nearing completion of the relocation and modernization of Route 40 from the top of Martins Mountain 3.6 miles west toward Cumberland.

Earlier this year, the SRC granted contracts for the relocation and modernization of Route 40 from Willowbrook Road in Cumberland east to Nave's Crossroads, and also improved the stretch from Sideling Hill Creek west to the beginning of the Town Hill relocation, a distance of 2.3 miles.

Thefts Reported

City police were notified yesterday by Jerry Shaner, 809 Alpine Boulevard, Pittsburgh, that a transistor radio, several packs of cigarettes and a carton of beer were taken from his car while it was parked on Central Avenue early yesterday morning. Detective Thomas J. See, who is investigating, said the car was unlocked.

Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale M. DiMaggio, 403 Avirett Avenue, a son Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freno, 1901 Frederick Street, a son Saturday.

Stocking Up For Opening Day

Ernest Colaw, left, and Thomas Pratt, both of Oakland, clerks in the first liquor store to operate in Oakland since 1916, stock shelves in preparation for today's opening. Two county-operated liquor dispensaries, at Oakland and in Grantsville, will open today at 9 a. m. (EST) with ribbon-cutting ceremonies. They will be operated by the county under provisions of a law passed this year by the General Assembly and approved by referendum June 21 in the districts where the stores are located.
